340,000-Man Boost Eyed For Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration disclosed plans today to increase the nation's fighting forces by 340,000 and asked for $1.7 billion in additional emergency defense funds.

Both steps are primarily because of the Viet Nam situation. However, the increased manpower does not mean the prospective dispatch of that many additional men to Viet Nam.

President Johnson asked Congress for the $1.7 billion "to increase our military strength in Viet Nam."

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara outlined the proposed manpower buildup in testimony to a closed Senate Appropriations subcommittee hearing.

McNamara told the senators that the Communist Viet Cong now hold the initiative in Viet Nam.

He predicted that South Viet Nam, with the aid of additional U.S. fighting forces, will win in the long, hard pull ahead.

Both the President and his defense secretary asked blanket authority for spending the new $1.7 billion emergency funds. McNamara made it clear that much larger detailed requirements will be waiting for the new session of Congress in January.

The 340,000 increase in the armed forces proposed by McNamara would lift them to 2,980,000 men by the end of next June 30.

Johnson listed the additional $1.7 billion as an "emergency fund, Southeast Asia."

Under the request, the money would be made available to the secretary of defense "upon determination by the President that such action is necessary in connection with military activities in Southeast Asia."

Even before the formal request arrived there were indications some senators favor a still larger total.

"I think the Congress wants to be certain they have enough money," Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, the senior Republican member of the Senate Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, said in an interview.

Johnson said Tuesday "America wins the wars that she undertakes" and added this country has declared war, not only

Governor Vetoes 2 Assembly Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes vetoed two bills Tuesday killing legislative measure to require flashing amber lights on rural mail vehicles and a land-transfer act.

Rhodes noted that federal vehicles would be exempt from the flashing lights statute and that no exemption was provided for substitute vehicles.

Sponsors of the land-transfer act requested the governor's veto Rhodes said, because it contained errors that were corrected in a subsequent enactment conveying 11 acres in Perry Township, Stark County, to Sibila Land Co.

Building Code Proposal Here Still Deadlocked

Continued efforts to introduce a building code ordinance for legislative action remained in the stalemated stage at last night's meeting of City Council.

A gesture to introduce the measure drew no response from the solons. Immediate financing and assurance that the code would be properly enforced were listed at the uppermost reasons for Council delay.

Although the proposed code has been designed to be self-sustaining financially once it is in operation, councilmen are not convinced the initial appropriation outlay can be made available to establish a new city department that would be required.

As the matter now stands, about $10,000 would be needed to place the code provisions in working order. This would be for the salary of a building inspector and other allied services required under the law. Councilmen say this amount is not available as an immediate appropriation.

THE MATTER of enforcement has been another drawback as far as the lawmakers are concerned. They contend steps must be taken to insure the law will have "teeth."

Mayor Ben H. Gordon voiced a favorable opinion of the code, noting that such a law is needed if home owners are to be fully protected. However, he said he hopes he can remain in harmony with Council's feeling on the building proposal.

Efforts to enact the building code here have been sponsored by the Pickaway County Contractors Assn. for more than a year. They feel it will offer protection to home buyers, and at the same time improve the business outlook for local contractors.

The code as proposed for Circleville has been drafted from the Columbus Building Code, considered an effective and sound device in most circles, appropriate changes have been made to conform with this area.

The code itself, and the ordinance that would make it law, has been prepared under the direction of the Pickaway County Contractors. Although several meetings have been held with Council members for study purposes, the solons as a body still indicate they would like more time to seek public reaction to the code proposal and find the means of meeting the financial obligation.

Shelton made a one-day visit Monday to inquire about charges against five men arrested in Greenfield for distributing anti-Negro literature. Arrested after the distribution to post office box holders of the Klan newspaper, Firey Cross, they were charged with violating a 1947 state law prohibiting "racquetting in hate."

Buttorff said the law provides a $10,000 fine for an out-of-state corporation operating without filing with his office.

State Police Lt. Robert Gray said state police are on a general lookout for Klan activity and have found no signs of recruiting other than in Hancock County.

Janis met with the council and reported that $11 million will be available over the next three years for construction of mental health facilities in Ohio.

The $6 million is the estimated cost of projects already being planned. They include mental health centers for Columbus, Cincinnati, Cuyahoga Falls, Dayton, Portsmouth, Springfield, Troy, Youngstown and Zanesville. Mental retardation centers are planned for Cincinnati, Findlay, Mansfield and Youngstown.

BRONN, Germany (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin says that if his Socialist party wins West Germany's national election next month his government will make Atlantic solidarity the central point of its foreign policy.

Adoption of the People amendment in the bill undoubtedly would send it to a conference committee when it goes back to the House.

The House passed it as a $279 million capital improvements bill. The Senate added the $118 million appropriation for federal subsidies and utility excise taxes to finance the state's share for the six public assistance programs.

The House will agree to the $118 million for welfare subsidies but is expected to balk at the People amendment if it is put in the bill.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state has disclosed plans to spend in excess of $6 million for new mental health centers in about a dozen Ohio cities.

Martin A. Janis, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, said Tuesday plans for the centers are under review by the Mental Health Facilities Advisory Council.

Building Bill Awaits Solons

Sen. Pepple Seeks Shift in Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The $400 million capital improvements-welfare subsidies bill will be high on the list of unfinished business facing Ohio legislators when they return next Monday after their recess.

One of the points about this bill is a move by Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Allen, to shift funds that could endanger its passage. If Pepple's proposal is inserted in the bill, state subsidies for about 15 airports in as many counties will have to be eliminated.

Senate action on the bill, to appropriate $279 million for capital improvements and $118 million for state welfare payments, was delayed last week when Pepple offered his surprise amendment.

Pepple's amendment seeks to shift $3 million of a $10 million appropriation for a new historical, library and archives building in Columbus' Civic Center and $1.5 million from a $5 million allowance for state subsidies for airports in 57 counties.

Pepple proposes to put $2,250,000 more in allowances for community colleges and $2,250,000 for branch universities. Among community colleges that could benefit would be Mahoning County Community College in the home district of Democratic Sen. Charles J. Carney. Among university branches that could benefit is the Lima branch of Ohio State University, in Pepple's home city.

Pepple tried unsuccessfully during the session to have a new state university created in Lima. He denies he made any deal with the Democrats in the evenly divided—16 to 16—Senate, but apparently he has some assurance of Democratic support for the amendment.

Adoption of the People amendment in the bill undoubtedly would send it to a conference committee when it goes back to the House.

The House passed it as a $279 million capital improvements bill. The Senate added the $118 million appropriation for federal subsidies and utility excise taxes to finance the state's share for the six public assistance programs.

Vote Rights Bill Edges Near Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The voting-rights bill, providing the strongest means yet for assuring Negroes access to the ballot box, was only a step today from final congressional approval. That step seemed certain to be taken Thursday.

The Senate has the final say and a leader of the opposition there said he knows of no plans for any concerted action against it by his fellow Southerners.

"If I thought I could defeat the bill, I'd try," Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said in an interview.

But Ellender recalled that a two-thirds majority had voted in May to shut off debate on the original version of the bill and only a simple majority now is needed for approval of the compromise version before the Senate.

The House passed the measure Tuesday 328 to 74.

The legislation, certain to be signed by President Johnson when it reaches him, provides for special federal examiners to be sent into states and voting districts with less than 50 per cent of voters registered to take over registration; suspends literacy tests in Alabama, Alaska, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, 34 counties of North Carolina and one county each of Arizona, Idaho and Maine; and directs the attorney general to challenge in court the constitutionality of poll taxes in state and local elections.

How do the flower show gals like their new space under the Grandstand? Well, it's cool and pleasant but parking is pretty hard. They were directed to go around the race track on the outside and park as closely as possible to the Grandstand.

Cleveland Area Employment High

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports employment in June in the four-county Cleveland metropolitan area was at an all-time high of 857,300.

The Cleveland area — Medina, Lake, Geauga and Cuyahoga counties—had about 25,000 more employed than a year ago, the BUC said. The previous high in employment was 846,800 last December, a traditionally high employment period because of Christmas.

Unemployment in June also was a record high, BUC reported. Figures showed that 25,300 persons were out of work—2.9 per cent of the labor force.

Health Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today a health bill to help staff community mental health centers and train teachers for handicapped children. He called these programs "vital building blocks in the structure of our society."

Midway Chatter

A perfectly gentle Black Angus steer belonging to Alex Jones caused a ruckus Sunday night when he was forced to share the truck with three squealing pigs. When it was time to disembark at the Fairgrounds the pigs refused to leave the truck. The steer decided to "let 'em have it." In the commotion which ensued Bob Jones, Tarlton farmer, was kicked sky high. When he landed the steer kicked every time Jones tried to get up. Jones came out of the fracas with a broken finger.

Alex Jones, however, suffered a complete loss of faith in the Black Angus. He is now very leery of the steer he trained for several months.

Flower exhibitors who came early to Tuesday's show found parking space plentiful. Those who just made the deadline had to park quite a distance from the show room.

Ruth Montelius parked quite close to the entrance. In fact it was right in front of the popcorn stand. After she registered her entries she climbed the hill to take in the Fair. The popcorn man, who wanted the car moved, treated the flower show ladies to a fiery display of righteous indignation.

Flames leaped 300 feet when five-story walls collapsed, rolling fireballs across a street to the stadium. The St. Louis Cardinals are expected to use the stadium next baseball season, and the 1966 All-Star game is set there next July.

A spokesman for the stadium construction company said damage to the $24-million structure was not extensive.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate showdown is expected today on Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's move to bypass the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote reapportionment decision.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, says the outcome is "very iffy."

At stake is a proposed constitutional amendment, of which Dirksen is chief sponsor. It would permit geography and political subdivisions as well as population to be taken into account in apportioning one house of a state legislature if the people approved in a referendum.

The proposed is aimed at overriding the Supreme Court's 1964 ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on the basis of population.

With a two-thirds majority required for approval, opponents thought they had enough votes to defeat Dirksen's measure. But they left the way open to filibuster against it if necessary.

Royal Pair Picked from Field of 16

By RICHARD DAVIS

The 20th Annual Pickaway County Fair's new king and queen were crowned last night before a jam-packed crowd in the Grandstand.

Last year's queen, Page Miller relinquished her crown to Brenda List, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther List, Route 4. Turning over his crown to Jim Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was 1964 King Larry Vance.

The selection of the new reigning couple was held in conjunction with the Talent Show. Both events highlight Junior Fair activities. The royal candidates were introduced between talent acts.

The new royalty was chosen from a field of 16 young ladies and gentlemen, all Pickaway County high school students or recent graduates.

FIRST runner-up for the queen's title was Linda Miner, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miner, Route 2. She is a 1965 graduate of Westfall High School and is attending Ohio State University where she is enrolled in the College of Education. Miss Miner represented the Jackson Jolly Tasters and Basters 4-H Club.

Tom Hamman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamman, Route 2, Williamsport, is the runner-up in competition for the king's crown. Tom, a senior this fall at Westfall High School, is a member of the Deer Creek Senior Livestock 4-H Club. After graduation he plans to enroll at Otterbein College where he will major in Social Studies. He plans to be a history teacher. Tom is also vice president of the Junior Fair Board.

The new Fair Queen, a pretty brunette, is a graduate of Logan Elm High School. She just completed her freshman year at Miami University at Oxford O., where she is a music education major.

PIERPONT, Ohio (AP)—After 40 years of cranking to get the operator, the 325 telephone users in this Ashtabula County village two miles west of the Pennsylvania border now have dial-type instruments.

Mid-Continent Telephone System, which installed the modern phones after purchasing the former Pierpont Telephone Co. last year, said Tuesday customers could keep the old crank-type phones as souvenirs.

Cleveland Area Employment High

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports employment in June in the four-county Cleveland metropolitan area was at an all-time high of 857,300.

The Cleveland area — Medina, Lake, Geauga and Cuyahoga counties—had about 25,000 more employed than a year ago, the BUC said. The previous high in employment was 846,800 last December, a traditionally high employment period because of Christmas.

Unemployment in June also was a record high, BUC reported. Figures showed that 25,300 persons were out of work—2.9 per cent of the labor force.

Health Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today a health bill to help staff community mental health centers and train teachers for handicapped children. He called these programs "vital building blocks in the structure of our society."

Midway Chatter

A perfectly gentle Black Angus steer belonging to Alex Jones caused a ruckus Sunday night when he was forced to share the truck with three squealing pigs. When it was time to disembark at the Fairgrounds the pigs refused to leave the truck. The steer decided to "let 'em have it." In the commotion which ensued Bob Jones, Tarlton farmer, was kicked sky high. When he landed the steer kicked every time Jones tried to get up. Jones came out of the fracas with a broken finger.

Alex Jones, however, suffered a complete loss of faith in the Black Angus. He is now very leery of the steer he trained for several months.

Flower exhibitors who came early to Tuesday's show found parking space plentiful. Those who just made the deadline had to park quite a distance from the show room.

Ruth Montelius parked quite close to the entrance. In fact it was right in front of the popcorn stand. After she registered her entries she climbed the hill to take in the Fair. The popcorn man, who wanted the car moved, treated the flower show ladies to a fiery display of righteous indignation.

How do the flower show gals like their new space under the Grandstand? Well, it's cool and pleasant but parking is pretty hard. They were directed to go around the race track on the outside and park as closely as possible to the Grandstand.

The baked goods and arts and crafts displays are also under the Grandstand. Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner says it's a good place and a big exhibit. She's just afraid large crowds won't come down the hill to visit.

The Homemaking Department had at least 66 visitors Tuesday afternoon. They were members of the Adena band who parked their musical instruments in one end of the room.

James Steele, bandmaster, is said to get lots of music out of the kids. "He marched them single file through the narrow space between counters. The youngsters did not so much as brush against a corner of the quilts when Steele told them to be careful. Band members quietly parked their instruments and departed. Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner thought it somewhat of a feat. We'll have to find out from bandmaster Steele how he comes by such discipline.

After the weary business of entering flower exhibits, exhibitors found the little booth where they make the orange and lemon shake-ups a good place to stop. Refreshing drinks are made from whole oranges and lemons. No! There's no electric blender. The young men at the booth cut up the fruit, skin and all, add sugar and pound it, thereby extracting the juice. Ice is added and the shake-ups are delicious. (Continued on Page Two)

St. Louis Battles Downtown Fire

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Fire raced across two city blocks in downtown St. Louis today, damaging the city's new sports stadium and injuring at least three firemen, none seriously.

Cause of the fire was not known.

Flames leaped 300 feet when five-story walls collapsed, rolling fireballs across a street to the stadium. The St. Louis Cardinals are expected to use the stadium next baseball season, and the 1966 All-Star game is set there next July.

A spokesman for the stadium construction company said damage to the $24-million structure was not extensive.

Senate Nears Showdown In Reapportionment Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate showdown is expected today on Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's move to bypass the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote reapportionment decision.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, says the outcome is "very iffy."

At stake is a proposed constitutional amendment, of which Dirksen is chief sponsor. It would permit geography and political subdivisions as well as population to be taken into account in apportioning one house of a state legislature if the people approved in a referendum.

The proposed is aimed at overriding the Supreme Court's 1964 ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on the basis of population.

Royal Pair Picked from Field of 16

By RICHARD DAVIS

The 20th Annual Pickaway County Fair's new king and queen were crowned last night before a jam-packed crowd in the Grandstand.

Last year's queen, Page Miller relinquished her crown to Brenda List, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther List, Route 4. Turning over his crown to Jim Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was 1964 King Larry Vance.

The selection of the new reigning couple was held in conjunction with the Talent Show. Both events highlight Junior Fair activities. The royal candidates were introduced between talent acts.

The new royalty was chosen from a field of 16 young ladies and gentlemen, all Pickaway County high school students or recent graduates.

FIRST runner-up for the queen's title was Linda Miner, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miner, Route 2. She is a 1965 graduate of Westfall High School and is attending Ohio State University where she is enrolled in the College of Education. Miss Miner represented the Jackson Jolly Tasters and Basters 4-H Club.

Tom Hamman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamman, Route 2, Williamsport, is the runner-up in competition for the king's crown. Tom, a senior this fall at Westfall High School, is a member of the Deer Creek Senior Livestock 4-H Club. After graduation he plans to enroll at Otterbein College where he will major in Social Studies. He plans to be a history teacher. Tom is also vice president of the Junior Fair Board.

The new Fair Queen, a pretty brunette, is a graduate of Logan Elm High School. She just completed her freshman year at Miami University at Oxford O., where she is a music education major.

Miss List, 17, represented the Pickaway County 4-H Band in the contest last night. She (Continued on Page 2)

Pierpont Loses Its Hand-Crank Phones

PIERPONT, Ohio (AP)—After 40 years of cranking to get the operator, the 325 telephone users in this Ashland County village two miles west of the Pennsylvania border now have dial-type instruments.

Mid-Continent Telephone System, which installed the modern phones after purchasing the former Pierpont Telephone Co. last year, said Tuesday customers could keep the old crank-type phones as souvenirs.

Senate Nears Showdown In Reapportionment Plan

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey figured in an exchange over the question whether President Johnson's administration was taking a hand in the reapportionment struggle.

Dirksen said he had asked Johnson at a White House conference about 10 days ago why the President was interfering in the reapportionment matter.

"The President said he hadn't interfered, that he had promised me he wouldn't and that he hadn't," Dirksen told a newsman. "So I asked him what Humphrey was doing. He said he didn't know anything about it until he read it in the paper."

"I said, 'Well call him up then and give him hell and tell him to stop.'"

Dirksen said he didn't know if the call had been made but that lately Humphrey hadn't been around the Senate much "and he wasn't in the cloakrooms, either."

Humphrey was in Miami at Urban League.

on domestic problems like ignorance and poverty, but also "on tyranny and aggression."

But he also promised to continue to work for a peaceful settlement in Viet Nam, adding, "If we do that we'll come home tomorrow."

Johnson remarked that he heard criticism of U.S. air strikes against targets in North Viet Nam, but little criticism of Communist attacks on South Viet Nam.

"The point I want to make is why — oh, why — don't people concern themselves with a country trying to maintain her independence against aggression?" he said.

"We don't want an inch of territory," Johnson continued. "We don't want a single base. We don't want anything except to help those people do what we agreed to do."

McNamara agreed to give the figures on the expected added costs of the Viet Nam fighting to the Senate Appropriations Committee, which has been delaying action on the annual $45 billion defense money bill already approved by the House.

So far Congress has provided $700 million to meet the costly Viet Nam military efforts, and that was in a supplemental appropriation which President Johnson asked May 5. Congress rushed it through so fast it was signed May 7.

This bill was regarded as a measure of congressional support then for Viet Nam policies as much as a part payment on the heavy outlays overseas.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., disclosed Tuesday that a secret report based on six months of investigating of Army readiness and supplies by his watchdog defense panel alleged serious shortages and deficiencies in the Army's combat equipment and supplies.

Because the bipartisan and unanimous report included sensitive military data, Stennis said it could not be made public.

Ohio Federal Judge Dies

At Age 84

CLEVELAND (AP) — U. S. District Judge Paul Jones, who observed his 42nd anniversary on the bench March 10, died today at his home in suburban Shaker Heights. He had been ill for some time.

Judge Jones, 84, was the oldest active U. S. district court judge in the country. He was appointed by President Warren G. Harding March 2, 1923 and took the oath of office eight days later.

The tall, white-haired judge said when he observed his 42nd anniversary that he had no thought of retiring.

Judge Jones, born in Youngstown, liked to talk about his native city and Michigan. He was fullback on the University of Michigan's football teams of 1902, 1903 and 1904.

He maintained close ties with his alma mater at Ann Arbor and attended football games there regularly.

Jones became a member of the Ohio bar in 1904, then came to Cleveland to coach football at Western Reserve University. He coached two years.

Then he went back to Youngstown and entered the practice of law. A Republican he was elected a common pleas court judge in Mahoning County the same day in 1920 that Harding was elected president.

TALENT WINNER — Holiday Parker copped first prize in the Junior Fair Board's Talent Show and Contest. The youngster, winning an extra round of applause from spectators, sang "Blackboard of My Heart." She accompanied herself on the guitar.

Holiday Parker Talent Winner

Grandstand patrons were entertained last night between the introduction of Fair King and Queen candidates by 12 talent acts and routines sponsored by the Pickaway County Junior Fair Board.

The talent show and contest was topped by the guitar and singing performance of Holiday Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Parker. She accompanied herself on the guitar and sang "Blackboard of My Heart."

Second-place winners of the talent contest were Kathy Dunleavy and Cheryl Hines. The youngsters presented selections from the motion picture "Mary Poppins." The song and dance medley included the tongue-twister "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious."

Receiving third place honors was Mickey Hildenbrand. He pounded out a drum solo that would have put some older musicians to shame. The rock and roll number was accompanied by a recording.

WINNING fourth place was the Logan Elm Sunny Sewers 4-H Club. The group presented selections from the "Sound of Music."

Jayne Hay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hay, Route 4, Ashville, copped the fifth place award for a hula dance.

Nicholas Drive Improvement Job Reviewed Again

For the second meeting in a row, City Council directed a close look at a proposed street improvement project on Nicholas Drive during last night's regular session.

A detailed description drawing of the project was presented by Frank Baum, the city's consulting engineer. It outlined the street as it would appear when completed.

However, two ordinances that would authorize preliminary steps in launching the project were held for another time. One measure called for the hiring of a city representative to negotiate for necessary land.

But the hiring measure was held after a question arose on the qualification of a city representative should have. Solicitor Kenneth Robbins said such a person should be skilled in real estate dealings.

THE SOLICITOR also advised that a set of standards should be established to guide the city representative, including a price the city will be willing to pay for right-of-way easements.

Solon David Crawford suggested Council take the necessary time to find a qualified man, then enact the proper legislation to proceed. It was indicated this recommendation will be followed.

In other business, the lawmakers confirmed Mayor Ben H. Gordon's reappointment of two men to Berger Hospital's Board of Governors. Named to new four-year terms were Harry Clifton Jr. and Henry Schroeeder.

Mayor Gordon advised Council that construction work on E. Main St. and on the bridge that spans Hargus Creek at Lancaster Pike is scheduled to begin immediately. He said current indications are that both jobs will be completed by Pumpkin Show.

Safety Committee chairman John Jenkins reported that Pennsylvania Railroad officials in Columbus have promised to send representatives here for an inspection of crossings to determine the need for repairs.

Fourth Ward solon Boyd Horn again complained of dust problems on Pickaway, Corwin and Washington Sts. in the vicinity of the Basic Co. Jenkins said he would look into the matter, unless Horn wanted to do it himself.

Lowell Ferguson, a visitor during last night's session, asked for a clarification on the city's zoning law in regard to the parking of travel trailers in backyards. He was advised that courts are the only agency that can give final interpretation on such an ordinance.

He was fined $100 on the first count and sentenced to 15 days in the County Jail. The fine on the OMVI charge was $250.

In addition the judge levied a 15-day jail sentence and ordered Fox's driving rights suspended for three years. The jail terms are to be served concurrently.

So far Congress has provided $700 million to meet the costly Viet Nam military efforts, and that was in a supplemental appropriation which President Johnson asked May 5. Congress rushed it through so fast it was signed May 7.

This bill was regarded as a measure of congressional support then for Viet Nam policies as much as a part payment on the heavy outlays overseas.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., disclosed Tuesday that a secret report based on six months of investigating of Army readiness and supplies by his watchdog defense panel alleged serious shortages and deficiencies in the Army's combat equipment and supplies.

Because the bipartisan and unanimous report included sensitive military data, Stennis said it could not be made public.

Ohio Federal Judge Dies At Age 84

CLEVELAND (AP) — U. S. District Judge Paul Jones, who observed his 42nd anniversary on the bench March 10, died today at his home in suburban Shaker Heights. He had been ill for some time.

Judge Jones, 84, was the oldest active U. S. district court judge in the country. He was appointed by President Warren G. Harding March 2, 1923 and took the oath of office eight days later.

The tall, white-haired judge said when he observed his 42nd anniversary that he had no thought of retiring.

Judge Jones, born in Youngstown, liked to talk about his native city and Michigan. He was fullback on the University of Michigan's football teams of 1902, 1903 and 1904.

He maintained close ties with his alma mater at Ann Arbor and attended football games there regularly.

Jones became a member of the Ohio bar in 1904, then came to Cleveland to coach football at Western Reserve University. He coached two years.

Then he went back to Youngstown and entered the practice of law. A Republican he was elected a common pleas court judge in Mahoning County the same day in 1920 that Harding was elected president.

He said that 2,853 persons were enrolled last week at the 10 mobile units stationed throughout the city. This compares with 2,098 signed up the first week.

Nicholas Drive Improvement Job Reviewed Again

For the second meeting in a row, City Council directed a close look at a proposed street improvement project on Nicholas Drive during last night's regular session.

A detailed description drawing of the project was presented by Frank Baum, the city's consulting engineer. It outlined the street as it would appear when completed.

However, two ordinances that would authorize preliminary steps in launching the project were held for another time. One measure called for the hiring of a city representative to negotiate for necessary land.

But the hiring measure was held after a question arose on the qualification of a city representative should have. Solicitor Kenneth Robbins said such a person should be skilled in real estate dealings.

THE SOLICITOR also advised that a set of standards should be established to guide the city representative, including a price the city will be willing to pay for right-of-way easements.

Solon David Crawford suggested Council take the necessary time to find a qualified man, then enact the proper legislation to proceed. It was indicated this recommendation will be followed.

In other business, the lawmakers confirmed Mayor Ben H. Gordon's reappointment of two men to Berger Hospital's Board of Governors. Named to new four-year terms were Harry Clifton Jr. and Henry Schroeder.

Mayor Gordon advised Council that construction work on E. Main St. and on the bridge that spans Hargus Creek at Lancaster Pike is scheduled to begin immediately. He said current indications are that both jobs will be completed by Pumpkin Show.

Safety Committee chairman John Jenkins reported that Pennsylvania Railroad officials in Columbus have promised to send representatives here for an inspection of crossings to determine the need for repairs.

Fourth Ward solon Boyd Horn again complained of dust problems on Pickaway, Corwin and Washington Sts. in the vicinity of the Basic Co. Jenkins said he would look into the matter, unless Horn wanted to do it himself.

Lowell Ferguson, a visitor during last night's session, asked for a clarification on the city's zoning law in regard to the parking of travel trailers in backyards. He was advised that courts are the only agency that can give final interpretation on such an ordinance.

He was fined $100 on the first count and sentenced to 15 days in the County Jail. The fine on the OMVI charge was $250.

In addition the judge levied a 15-day jail sentence and ordered Fox's driving rights suspended for three years. The jail terms are to be served concurrently.

Guy Easter of Chillicothe was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in the jail for driving while under the influence of intoxicants. His license was suspended for one year.

pleted court docket were:

U. S. Lead Grows

A suspicion by United States economists that the economy of the Soviet Union has been lagging badly, perhaps more so than anyone on this side of the iron curtain knows, has been given official recognition in the report issued by the Joint Economic Committee of Congress.

Because of the secrecy enveloping Soviet economic performance, it takes free world economists months to correlate what they know about Soviet activity with what they can only predict has happened. Accordingly, 1963 is the latest year of comparison between the U. S. and the USSR.

The Soviet economy that year reached a gross national product of $265 billion, second only to the U. S. GNP of $584 billion. But the Soviet per capita gross national product was fifth among major industrial nations, following the U. S., France, West Germany and Britain, and only slightly ahead of Japan and Italy.

Per capita consumption in the Soviet Union in 1963 was only 29 per cent of U. S. consumption, revealing a widening chasm between Soviet production and consumption. Basing its conclusions on this study and previous ones, the congressional committee found little for Soviet planners to rejoice about for the next decade at least. "Soviet growth superiority among the principal world economies is now a memory," concluded the report. "For the remainder of this decade, Soviet growth will be little or no faster than that of France and Italy, and considerably slower than that of Japan."

"The former wide disparity between Soviet and United States expansion rates will be reduced to around 1 per cent. The absolute difference between the national products of the two economies will continue to widen."

Proliferating demands on a shortening resource base are forcing Soviet leaders to renounce formerly inviolable Marxist economic dogma and turn over greater emphasis on production priorities to the consumer.

But even should the consumer's voice be given added importance in Russia's bogged down economy, nothing resembling an effective free market economy could develop without major upheavals in political and social institutions — none of which Kremlin bosses are likely to accede to.

The congressional report points out in statistical detail what has seemed obvious all along: The economic failures which were largely responsible for the firing of Nikita Khrushchev exist today in the Soviet Union.

Crying Too Much?

By John Chamberlain

We live in a humanitarian country in a humanitarian age. It's a lot better than living in the days of Ivan the Terrible or even Louis the Fourteenth. But there is such a thing as crying too much for poor, buffeted humanity, and the people with good hearts may end by enslaving us all.

The height of something-or-other in dangerous weepiness was reached the other day by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz in a speech before the annual convention of the Communications Workers of America in Kansas City. It must be quoted in extension to be fully appreciated. Said Mr. Wirtz:

"Don't let this country get comfortable about a 4.6 per cent unemployment . . . There is only one answer as far as employment opportunities are concerned, and that is that every person in this country who is capable of doing a job is entitled to an opportunity to do that job."

So far, so good. Nobody will quarrel with Mr. Wirtz for his desire to match ability with opportunity. His own Department of Labor might refer Secretary Wirtz's words to the AFL-CIO, which has opposed a government appropriation to finance a major study of job vacancies in the United States. The AFL-CIO has taken the incredible position that if the government were to make a serious study of job opportunities in America it would be used by conservatives to argue against federal action to reduce unemployment.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF Woody Allen's most hilarious—and ludicrous—routines concerns the day when he discovered in London that he could buy a Rolls Royce for several thousand dollars less than it would cost him in New York. No sooner had he made the commitment, however, than he discovered he'd be stuck for a heavy duty when he landed in the U.S.A. That's when he decided to break the car up in little pieces and bring it in in suitcases. When he counted the suitcases needed for the job, they came to 128 and he had quite a time getting them into taxicabs bound for the airport.

Furthermore, airline officials informed him calmly that he was four thousand pounds overweight, and that at fifty cents a pound, his extra fare would be exactly two thousand dollars.

Woody had one card left in his deck. He switched to Israeli Airlines, figuring that the officials there wouldn't mind if a passenger was a wee bit overweight. What worried them was passengers who were underweight.

Our third son was found to be a Mongolian idiot at birth. We were told about it immediately. Since then we have tried to find the reason why such a calamity happened to us. Our first two children are perfectly normal. Now the suggestion has been made that we should send our boy to an institution. Where can we find the courage and the help necessary to make such a difficult decision?

Mr. & Mrs. C.C.F., New Jersey
Dear Mr. and Mrs. F.: There are some people who may not know what Mongolian idiocy is. It is a congenital mental deficiency usually recognized at birth by the characteristic appearance of the face and the eyes. The typical Mongolian countenance has a broad nose with a flat skull, and eyes that are slanted.

The reason for this birth calamity is not known. The one thing that is known is that you are not being punished for something you think you may have done, or failed to do. Many people have within them their own "guilt manufacturing machines" that add additional burdens to an already unhappy situation.

It is heartbreaking enough for you to be faced with such a gigantic decision without inflicting any more anguish on yourself. The answer you seek is one that would silence the wisdom of the ages. All factors must be weighed and given impartial consideration. You must ask yourself these questions: Will your son ever be able to live in society as a happy human being? Can he be sufficiently rehabilitated so that he can handle his own needs? Will your other two sons be psychologically and emotionally affected by a household that revolves around their "strange brother"?

There is no universal answer to such a difficult problem. Your problem is different from those of other families who, too, are burdened by Mongolian idiocy. You must seek the specific advice of your physician, a guidance counselor, a teacher,

NEW YORK (AP) — Britain's struggle to bolster the pound sterling—one of the few remaining status symbols of the once proud British Empire—is more closely tied to the future of the American dollar than you might think.

For the dollar and the pound are still linked in world financial affairs. Trouble in London's Threadneedle Street can affect Wall Street—and Main Street.

The pound no longer has the importance it boasted back in the flourishing 1920s. Its collapse at the start of the 1930s set up a chain reaction of business woe throughout the world that contributed in large measure to the depths to which the American economy sank in the Great Depression.

If the pound isn't that important today, the state of the British economy and the state of the European Common Market are still matters of concern to U.S. business as well as to U.S. monetary authorities.

The American economy at the moment looks strong enough to take care of the many domestic problems and even the stepped-up Viet Nam War. But Britain, and parts of Western Europe, have been breeding some trouble spots that could cause business setbacks there—and in time here. And both Britain and the Common Market tend to blame the United States for some of their present and potential difficulties.

In this country there is debate over whether the economy is slowing down, or is about to. In most of Europe the rate of growth is definitely smaller this year than last, and well below the rate in the United States. This slowdown follows years of unusual growth in Western Europe, with the rate notably higher than in the United States.

Britain is especially hard hit now. In 1964 its economy expanded over the previous year by 5.7 per cent. This year the growth is estimated at 2.5 per cent or so by the First National City Bank of New York.

The British industrial lag has failed to meet the demands for goods of the almost wholly employed British population. They have turned to imports to get what they want and have the money to buy.

And that's where the pound sterling is in trouble. The excess of imports over exports has put a strain on the pound. To pay for these imports, Britain finds other currencies in demand, and the pound isn't.

Last fall the United States had to go to the aid of the pound. With other nations it furnished a fund to Bank of England could draw upon to defend the value of the pound against speculators who were dumping their holdings because they thought the pound would have to be devalued.

Again the British government is seeking to curb imports, boost exports, and ward off speculators as the pound weakens. If Britain's efforts don't succeed, the United States may have to help again.

With its hands full in Viet Nam and at home, the United States doesn't relish prospects of increasing economic problems across the Atlantic.

WASHINGTON (AP)—"It was just a matter of adjusting my thinking to this way of life."

Thomas H. (Mickey) Countee Jr. hitched himself up in his wheel chair. An open folder lay on his desk in the Peace Corps office where he puts in 40 hours a week screening overseas applications.

Strapped to his arm were two metal splints. One held a container to steady his pen; the other a tubular device for telephone dialing.

At 25—he will be 26 on Aug. 7—Countee has spent seven years in what he calls "this way of life."

He is a wheel chair-bound quadruplegic. An accident in 1958 left his legs paralyzed; his arms partly so.

He has worked full time for the Peace Corps for the past three years, winning during that time a bachelor's degree from Washington's American University and financing two years at Georgetown University's four-year law school.

Ultimately, Countee hopes to practice in New York.

Seven years ago, his thoughts were far from New York and the law.

He had completed his second year at Harvard and like many 19-year-old college boys was unwinding during the summer.

He was at a Chesapeake Bay beach in Maryland when his world was shattered.

He dove from a pier. His head struck the sand. The impact crushed his spinal cord.

For three months he lay in a hospital; for a year he strained with the pain that stems from a rehabilitation program.

At last, he returned to his parents' home in Washington. Slowly during that first year he reentered the world outside the hospital. He took one college course. The next year he enrolled for a full load.

Countee can't pinpoint one factor as helping him transfer from the world of physical normalcy to that of the handicapped.

"Support from the family and friends and the best medical care—these things sustained me," he said.

"Perhaps the greatest effect it had on me initially," he said, "was the way it affected my family. I knew the expenses would be heavy. I had one brother in prep school, and another about to start."

The family consists of his brothers and parents. His father is a lawyer and high school teacher; his mother is a social worker.

The brothers did get to prep school, and one is now a junior at Stanford. The other will enter Syracuse University this fall.

His status has some advantages, he said.

"Just by virtue of being handicapped you develop a little more patience, a little more perseverance."

"You know things won't be easy. You learn to take the rough with the smooth."

U. S. Lead Grows

A suspicion by United States economists that the economy of the Soviet Union has been lagging badly, perhaps more so than anyone on this side of the iron curtain knows, has been given official recognition in the report issued by the Joint Economic Committee of Congress.

Because of the secrecy enveloping Soviet economic performance, it takes free world economists months to correlate what they know about Soviet activity with what they can only predict has happened. Accordingly, 1963 is the latest year of comparison between the U. S. and the USSR.

The Soviet economy that year reached a gross national product of $265 billion, second only to the U. S. GNP of $584 billion. But the Soviet per capita gross national product was fifth among major industrial nations, following the U. S., France, West Germany and Britain, and only slightly ahead of Japan and Italy.

Per capita consumption in the Soviet Union in 1963 was only 29 per cent of U. S. consumption, revealing a widening chasm between Soviet production and consumption. Basing its conclusions on this study and previous ones, the congressional committee found little for Soviet planners to rejoice about for the next decade at least. "Soviet growth superiority among the principal world economies is now a memory," concluded the report. "For the remainder of this decade, Soviet growth will be little or no faster than that of France and Italy, and considerably slower than that of Japan."

"The former wide disparity between Soviet and United States expansion rates will be reduced to around 1 per cent. The absolute difference between the national products of the two economies will continue to widen."

Proliferating demands on a shortening resource base are forcing Soviet leaders to renounce formerly inviolable Marxist economic dogma and turn over greater emphasis on production priorities to the consumer.

But even should the consumer's voice be given added importance in Russia's bogged down economy, nothing resembling an effective free market economy could develop without major upheavals in political and social institutions — none of which Kremlin bosses are likely to accede to.

The congressional report points out in statistical detail what has seemed obvious all along: The economic failures which were largely responsible for the firing of Nikita Khrushchev exist today in the Soviet Union.

Crying Too Much?

By John Chamberlain

We live in a humanitarian country in a humanitarian age. It's a lot better than living in the days of Ivan the Terrible or even Louis the Fourteenth. But there is such a thing as crying too much for poor, buffeted humanity, and the people with good hearts may end by enslaving us all.

The height of something-or-other in dangerous weepiness was reached the other day by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz in a speech before the annual convention of the Communications Workers of America in Kansas City. It must be quoted in extension to be fully appreciated. Said Mr. Wirtz:

"Don't let this country get comfortable about a 4.6 per cent unemployment . . . There is only one answer as far as employment opportunities are concerned, and that is that every person in this country who is capable of doing a job is entitled to an opportunity to do that job."

So far, so good. Nobody will quarrel with Mr. Wirtz for his desire to match ability with opportunity. His own Department of Labor might refer Secretary Wirtz's words to the AFL-CIO, which has opposed a government appropriation to finance a major study of job vacancies in the United States. The AFL-CIO has taken the incredible position that if the government were to make a serious study of job opportunities in America it would be used by conservatives to argue against federal action to reduce unemployment.

ONE OF Woody Allen's most hilarious—and ludicrous—routines concerns the day when he discovered in London that he could buy a Rolls Royce for several thousand dollars less than it would cost him in New York. No sooner had he made the commitment, however, than he discovered he'd been stuck for a heavy duty when he landed in the U.S.A. That's when he decided to break the car up in little pieces and bring it in in suitcases. When he counted the suitcases needed for the job, they came to 128 and he had quite a time getting them into taxicabs bound for the airport.

Furthermore, airline officials informed him calmly that he was four thousand pounds overweight, and that at fifty cents a pound, his extra fare would be exactly two thousand dollars.

Woody had one card left in his deck. He switched to Israeli Airlines, figuring that the officials there wouldn't mind if a passenger was a wee bit overweight. What worried them was passengers who were underweight.

or a spiritual adviser. When their opinions are clearly stated, and if their judgment to send your child to an institution is accepted by you, there will be tremendous heartache and confusion.

Long after your decision is made, you will continue to question its wisdom. Yet there may be great comfort in observing your boy living in a world without competition, surrounded by affection, understanding and the devotion which comes from the dedicated, trained workers who care for him. There will be limitless joys that will accrue from the unobstructed growth of your other children, who will be free to develop without the burden of a painful inheritance.

My husband has emphysema. When a dry climate was recommended, we moved to Arizona and found that he definitely feels better after only six weeks here. Can this be just a temporary improvement?

Mrs. V.P.W., Arizona
Dear Mrs. W.: Patients with chronic respiratory disorders like emphysema or bronchitis seem to be vastly more comfortable in warm, dry climates.

Six weeks is not an adequate trial period. I would not suggest that you uproot your family and home with such slight experience. A radical decision should be made after a long, protracted period. If the improvement continues, the change can be made with assurance, and you will not jeopardize the entire structure of your family life.

It must be remembered that climate is not the only factor that cures or controls emphysema.

$1.75 an Hour Minimum Wage in 1968 Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Labor subcommittee approved Tuesday a bill that would increase the minimum wage to $1.75 an hour by 1968 and expand coverage to 6.1 million more workers, including 700,000 farm workers.

This goes beyond the administration's recommendations. President Johnson had requested that an additional 4.6 million workers be given minimum wage protection. He made no recommendation for an increase in the present $1.25 an hour minimum wage.

Another administration proposal — that double pay be required for overtime work on the theory this would spread employment — was rejected by the subcommittee.

5 Concerts Scheduled by 4-H Bandsmen

The 77-member Pickaway County 4-H Band under the direction of Drexel Poling, Route 4, played the second of five concerts yesterday evening which have been scheduled for the Pickaway County Fair.

With concerts scheduled at various places on the fairgrounds each band member knows that one way to be sure of having a seat is to take it with him. So, as the band matches from the 4-H Grange Building during the week to present their concerts, each member will be carrying his own chair along with an instrument, music and music stand.

Fairgoers in the vicinity of the northeast corner of the coliseum on Monday were surprised at the speed with which the band members arrived on the scene, seated themselves and within a very short time were playing "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover" with which they begin each concert.

In addition to Monday's and Tuesday's concerts, the 4-H Band will present other concerts for fair audiences on Thursday and Friday at 7 p. m. in the grandstand. They will

Tory Loses in Duel with Laborite

LONDON (AP) — Two leading British newspapers said Tuesday that Edward Heath, making his parliamentary debut as Conservative party leader, lost a verbal duel with Labor Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

"He lost by a knockout," the independent Times of London said. "When it comes to the art of infighting, Mr. Wilson has no peer. By the same token, Mr. Heath has a lot to learn."

"Disappointment was sadly and generally registered by Conservatives when they heard their new leader," said the conservative Daily Telegraph.

The House of Commons debate Monday night centered on a motion by Heath expressing no confidence in the Labor government and deploring Wilson's handling of the affairs of state. With the 10 Liberal members abstaining, the government defeated the motion 303-290.

Heath accused the Laborites of destroying confidence by over dramatizing the extent of Britain's financial crisis and by using piecemeal measures to ease it.

The new Tory chief avoided verbal fireworks in his first major speech as party leader. And Wilson brought the packed benches to a fever by taunting the previous Conservative government with having secretly prepared every kind of emergency measure which they now sought to censure.

He charged that the Conservatives had detailed schemes ready for an imports surcharge of the kind his government introduced last October, and for an imports quota system, which Labor has avoided.

He accused Heath of humbug and political cowardice, and said: "We treat his censure motion with contempt."

TAKING A BREAK — The Pickaway County 4-H Band and Director Drexel Poling take a break here during Tuesday's concert at the County Fair. The group has slated other concerts for the remainder of Fair Week in addition to participation in the Pet Parade today.

$1.75 an Hour Minimum Wage in 1968 Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 700,000 farm workers. This goes beyond the administration's recommendations. President Johnson had requested that an additional 4.6 million workers be given minimum wage protection. He made no recommendation for an increase in the present $1.25 an hour minimum wage.

Another administration proposal — that double pay be required for overtime work on the theory this would spread employment — was rejected by the subcommittee.

5 Concerts Scheduled by 4-H Bandsmen

The 77-member Pickaway County 4-H Band under the direction of Drexel Poling, Route 4, played the second of five concerts yesterday evening which have been scheduled for the Pickaway County Fair.

With concerts scheduled at various places on the fairgrounds each band member knows that one way to be sure of having a seat is to take it with him. So, as the band marches from the 4-H Grange Building during the week to present their concerts, each member will be carrying his own chair along with an instrument, music and music stand.

Fairgoers in the vicinity of the northeast corner of the coliseum on Monday were surprised at the speed with which the band members arrived on the scene, seated themselves and within a very short time were playing "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover" with which they begin each concert.

In addition to Monday's and Tuesday's concerts, the 4-H Band will present other concerts for fair audiences on Thursday and Friday at 7 p. m. in the grandstand. They will

Tory Loses in Duel with Laborite

LONDON (AP) — Two leading British newspapers said Tuesday that Edward Heath, making his parliamentary debut as Conservative party leader, lost a verbal duel with Labor Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

"He lost by a knockout," the independent Times of London said. "When it comes to the art of infighting, Mr. Wilson has no peer. By the same token, Mr. Heath has a lot to learn."

"Disappointment was sadly and generally registered by Conservatives when they heard their new leader," said the conservative Daily Telegraph.

The House of Commons debate Monday night centered on a motion by Heath expressing no confidence in the Labor government and deploring Wilson's handling of the affairs of state. With the 10 Liberal members abstaining, the government defeated the motion 303-290.

Heath accused the Laborites of destroying confidence by over dramatizing the extent of Britain's financial crisis and by using piecemeal measures to ease it.

The new Tory chief avoided verbal fireworks in his first major speech as party leader. And Wilson brought the packed benches to a fever by taunting the previous Conservative government with having secretly prepared every kind of emergency measure which they now sought to censure.

He charged that the Conservatives had detailed schemes ready for an imports surcharge of the kind his government introduced last October, and for an imports quota system, which Labor has avoided.

He accused Heath of humbug and political cowardice, and said: "We treat his censure motion with contempt."

Ohio Tax Take Zooms

also appear in the Pet Parade at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday and will play during the harness races that follow.

THE band, one of the largest 4-H clubs in the county, includes 4-H members who attend all of the county high schools and nearly all of the elementary schools.

David Schein is band club president and the advisers are Drexel Poling, Mrs. Ralph Dunkel, Mrs. Sterling Poling and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schein.

Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh is chairman for the picnic planned Aug. 26.

never thinking he could be serious about me. Now he calls me every day inviting me to dinner, movies, dancing, or anywhere I want to go. He is just wonderful to me, but he is terribly jealous. I know he will ask me to marry him and since living conditions aren't very pleasant at home, what should I do? I know he would take very good care of me, but is that enough? My mother says it's better to be an old man's darling than a young man's slave. Can you help me?

TEMPTED
DEAR TEMPTED: Your mother is right — if you MUST be either an old man's darling or a young man's slave. But jealousy can enslave you. And if you're going to be a "slave" — it's better to be a YOUNG man's slave.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to a very fine widower for over a year and we are expecting a child soon. He says if it is a girl he would like to name it after his first wife. Abby, he has talked constantly about his first wife since we've been married. He also carries pictures of her around with him and shows them to people. He even compares me with her. I have never said anything to him about how hurt I am because I shouldn't be "jealous" of a poor woman who is dead, but I can't help resenting it. He says he loves me, and I'm sure he does, but he is slowly breaking my heart. What do you suggest?

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: How insensitive can a man be? Of course, for you to suffer in silence is foolish. Tell him how you feel about his constant references to his first wife, and if you're wise, under no circumstances will you name your baby (if it's a girl) after her.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married almost 40 years and I have had all sorts of problems, but they seemed to work out all right. Now I have a new one I've never had before. Lately my husband has been talking in such a loud voice he embarrasses me to death. When we go shopping, everyone in the store turns around to look at him because he talks so loud. I just dread going out with him. Do not tell me to tell him to keep his voice down because I have, and he says, "I'M NOT TALKING ANY LOUDER THAN USUAL."

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: Suggest that your husband have his hearing checked. But don't whisper or he'll probably not hear you. I think he's become hard-of-hearing.

DEAR ABBY: The series of letters in your column dealing with patients who refused to surrender their dentures to the nurse just prior to surgery prompts this letter. I also dreaded this under similar circumstances. I solved the problem with the help of an "aide." I asked her for a surgical mask to wear to and from the operating room. After I'm "under" I don't care who sees me. But I am terrified to the point of tears to be seen without my dentures. That surgical mask saved my life and my pride.

Covered Conical Shapes Dominate Fall Fashions

By LOUISE HICKMAN
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Conical shapes, well covered up, dominate the new Paris fashion collections for fall and winter.

That's the outstanding impression one has after viewing advance showings of the new fashions which opened July 26 and end this Friday with a preview of the Yves Saint-Laurent collection.

Buyers who have seen the new Saint-Laurent collection hail it as the best in Paris, commenting particularly on his brilliant use of color in creating geometric patterns outlined in bars of black.

No one mentions hemlines at Saint-Laurent, and in other fall-winter collections lengths play lesser roles than had been expected. The acceptable average would seem to be mid-knee.

The prevailing shape is a slender cone, which gives new dimension to the A-line. Shoulders and long sleeves are slender. Collars are high, loose rings. Suit jackets are longer.

Belts circle but never cinch. Most of them are slung loosely around the hips, on dresses.

Heim has many knee-length full-blown knickers, in fur or fabric for any hour of the day, and Lanvin showed the same harem shapes for at-home wear. And that is about it, as far as pants are concerned.

In short-skirt collections, leg-covering gaiters in fabrics to match coats or dresses take the place of boots.

In both French and Italian

collections, the search is on for new coat shapes. There are twirly wide coats in the Ricci and Molyneux collections. At Ricci they are scarf-wrapped around the neck and buttonless. Molyneux buttons them high, once, at the neck.

The newest evening look is strapless, cut high to cover cleavage. The gowns are cut close to the rib cage, circle the body in a slender, stiff cone from a point above the waist. They always have some sort of covering — a jeweled jacket, a long coat, or a scarf wrap.

Rigid domed hats dominate the collections. But the newest-looking hat is Dior's wide, soft black "cavalier" felt. At Lanvin and Ricci there were bandanna wraps in firm felt. Patou showed a bandanna-wrapped "sphinx" coif, often in suede.

BPW Board Of Directors Holds Session

"Plan for Progress," the 1965-66 program theme for Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, was discussed at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the local BPW Club held at Red Cross headquarters.

Mrs. Roliff Wolford, president, was in charge. Committee chairmen were named as follows: Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, membership; Daisy Karlsint, program; Mrs. James Ullman, personality development; Mrs. Keith Wagner, civic participation; Mrs. Charles Curlett, world affairs; Margie Carmean, federation; Ona M. Hurt, finance; Mrs. Leora Sayre, public relations; Mrs. Marvene Rhodes, legislation; Mary K. Kennedy, parliamentarian; Mrs. Lucille Bostwick, historian; Mrs. Esther Work, telephone contacts; Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad, education and career.

Daisy Karlsint guided the general arrangement for program content. Plans were made for the meeting of District 10 to be held Sept. 26 at Green Meadows Inn, Columbus. The program theme is "Hello Neighbor."

Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh is chairman for the picnic planned Aug. 26.

DEAR TEMPTED: Your mother is right—if you MUST be either an old man's darling or a young man's slave. But jealousy can enslave you. And if you're going to be a "slave"—it's better to be a YOUNG man's slave.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to a very fine widower for over a year and we are expecting a child soon. He says if it is a girl he would like to name it after his first wife. Abby, he has talked constantly about his first wife since we've been married. He also carries pictures of her around with him and shows them to people. He even compares me with her. I have never said anything to him about how hurt I am because I shouldn't be "jealous" of a poor woman who is dead, but I can't help resenting it. He says he loves me, and I'm sure he does, but he is slowly breaking my heart. What do you suggest?

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: How insensitive can a man be? Of course, for you to suffer in silence is foolish. Tell him how you feel about his constant references to his first wife, and if you're wise, under no circumstances will you name your baby (if it's a girl) after her.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married almost 40 years and I have had all sorts of problems, but they seemed to work out all right. Now I have a new one I've never had before. Lately my husband has been talking in such a loud voice he embarrasses me to death. When we go shopping, everyone in the store turns around to look at him because he talks so loud. I just dread going out with him. Do not tell me to tell him to keep his voice down because I have, and he says, "I'M NOT TALKING ANY LOUDER THAN USUAL."

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: Suggest that your husband have his hearing checked. But don't whisper or he'll probably not hear you. I think he's become hard-of-hearing.

DEAR ABBY: The series of letters in your column dealing with patients who refused to surrender their dentures to the nurse just prior to surgery prompts this letter. I also dreaded this under similar circumstances. I solved the problem with the help of an "aide." I asked her for a surgical mask to wear to and from the operating room. After I'm "under" I don't care who sees me. But I am terrified to the point of tears to be seen without my dentures. That surgical mask saved my life and my pride.

Covered Conical Shapes Dominate Fall Fashions

By LOUISE HICKMAN
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Conical shapes, well covered up, dominate the new Paris fashion collections for fall and winter.

That's the outstanding impression one has after viewing advance showings of the new fashions which opened July 26 and end this Friday with a preview of the Yves Saint-Laurent collection.

Buyers who have seen the new Saint-Laurent collection hail it as the best in Paris, commenting particularly on his brilliant use of color in creating geometric patterns outlined in bars of black.

No one mentions hemlines at Saint-Laurent, and in other fall-winter collections lengths play lesser roles than had been expected. The acceptable average would seem to be mid-knee.

The prevailing shape is a slender cone, which gives new dimension to the A-line. Shoulders and long sleeves are slender. Collars are high, loose rings. Suit jackets are longer.

Belts circle but never cinch. Most of them are slung loosely around the hips, on dresses.

Heim has many knee-length full-blown knickers, in fur or fabric for any hour of the day, and Lanvin showed the same harem shapes for at-home wear. And that is about it, as far as pants are concerned.

In short-skirt collections, leg-covering gaiters in fabrics to match coats or dresses take the place of boots.

In both French and Italian

collections, the search is on for new coat shapes. There are twirly wide coats in the Ricci and Molyneux collections. At Ricci they are scarf-wrapped around the neck and buttonless. Molyneux buttons them high, once, at the neck.

The newest evening look is strapless, cut high to cover cleavage. The gowns are cut close to the rib cage, circle the body in a slender, stiff cone from a point above the waist. They always have some sort of covering — a jeweled jacket, a long coat, or a scarf wrap.

Rigid domed hats dominate the collections. But the newest-looking hat is Dior's wide, soft black "cavalier" felt. At Lanvin and Ricci there were bandanna wraps in firm felt. Patou showed a bandanna-wrapped "sphinx" coif, often in suede.

Here Are Accomplishments So far by Ohio Legislature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the Ohio Legislature taking a ten-day "cooling off" period, here is a summary of legislative accomplishments so far.

House bills piled up in the deadlocked Senate until they exceeded 200 on the calendar. Altogether 1,364 bills were offered in both chambers. About 300 became law.

Democratic senators rejected a handful of gubernatorial appointees early in the session. Others were held in the powerful Rules Committee until after an appellate court said they should be considered during the session. Most were confirmed later.

Of the record-high $1.5 billion general appropriations budget enacted for the next two years, 55 per cent was tagged for public and higher education.

Public schools received more than $625 million, and $180 million went to state-supported universities and other institutions. Another $287 million went for public welfare.

The legislators, who had their own salaries boosted from $5,000 to $8,000 annually before the session started, approved pay increases for 39,000 state employees totaling $20 million a year and gave 90,000 school teachers and certificated employees $200 annual raises at administration behest.

The governor's $25,000 annual salary was boosted to $40,000; those of the secretary of state, auditor and attorney general from $15,000 to $25,000 and the lieutenant governor from $8,000 to $17,000 for terms starting in 1967.

Judges throughout the state, numerous officials and public employees shared in the financial largess. Many also got extra paid holidays and other fringe benefits.

Pensions were increased for more than 30,000 in the state's three retirement systems and a single statewide system was substituted for the 402 local police and firemen's pension programs.

The three state retirement systems embrace 90,000 teachers, 50,000 school employees and 175,000 public employees of the state, counties, municipalities and townships.

Voter-approved bond issues made possible appropriations approximating $47 million for capital improvements for public buildings, schools, recreation and other facilities throughout the state.

A total of $891 million was appropriated for Highway and Highway Safety departments and $7.5 million to make up a public school subsidy deficit for the previous biennium.

In a major reorganization public assistance programs were turned over to counties with the state maintaining only supervision after next July 1.

Under the shift, county welfare departments will have full responsibility for six programs—poor relief, aid for the aged, the needy blind, and permanently and totally disabled, dependent children and dependent children of the unemployed. (ADCU).

Another law put the ADCU program in Ohio on a permanent basis.

Consolidation of Ohio's 29 regional tuberculosis hospitals into a dozen institutions was authorized and subsidies for TB patients increased.

The Division of Aid for the Aged was authorized to pay for nursing home care of its charges and the Welfare Department empowered to establish medical assistance programs for the aged.

The legislature tightened regulations over nursing and rest homes, following the death of 63 patients in the 1963 Fitchville nursing home fire, and stiffened control over strip mining operations to require better reclamation and curb stream pollution.

A new Oil and Gas Division was created in the Natural Resources Department to regulate that revived industry and help control stream pollution.

Laws aimed at Klu Klux Klan activities in Ohio were enacted to ban wearing masks and regalia in public, except for entertainment purposes, and to outlaw conspiracy to deprive anyone of equal protection under the law.

Laws were passed to make parents liable for vandalism of their children up to $250. Penalties also were set for damaging or threatening to damage property.

Another stiffened penalties for riots such as those which sent National Guardsmen to Russells Point and Geneva-on-the-Lake resorts during the July 4 holiday weekend.

Humane livestock slaughtering was decreed, prods were outlawed on animals used in rodeos and exhibitions, and dog owners were ordered to prevent their pets from roaming at large.

In addition to the housing racial ban, it became unlawful to discriminate against members of cooperative agricultural marketing associations.

Seat belts were required on new cars after Jan. 1 and litter bags ordered for motorists but without setting a penalty for enforcement.

Tomato juice became the state's official drink and Ohio flint became the official Buckeye gem stone.

A dispute over the name of a new state university at Dayton was resolved to call it Wright State University. State universities were created at Akron and Toledo.

The so-called prudent man statute was liberalized to permit fiduciaries an investment increase from 35 to 60 per cent of an estate's aggregate value in stocks and interest bearing obligations.

A supplemental appropriation of $500,000 was approved to pay criminal court costs to counties and another half million dollars appropriated to pay sundry claims against the state, which cannot be sued.

An omnibus municipal court act created a number of new courts and extended jurisdiction of others.

Another law gave the counties of Cuyahoga, Summit, Hamilton Stark and Medina a new common pleas judge each.

School teachers and officials were authorized to use "reasonable" corporal punishment on unruly pupils and school boards and officials received sanction to enforce rules governing conduct on school grounds.

Children must have turned age 6 by Oct. 1 to enter the first grade under another law and state universities will retain and administer fees and other income instead of turning the money over to the state.

Only a single nominating petition is required for a slate of national convention delegates and alternates under another statute while election board clerks hereafter will be called election directors.

Terms of mayors and city solicitors in noncharter municipalities were extended to four years, from two.

Seventeen Ohio counties with tax duplicates of $300 million or more can increase their bonded debt limit by one per cent.

Store operators will be able to retain suspected shoplifters until police arrive and penalties were set for improper disposal of rented tools, equipment and other property.

Permanent fishing licenses were approved for Ohioans age 70 or older.

A peace officer training program was established under direction of the attorney general and Highway Patrol strength was boosted from 800 to 850.

Creation of regional transit authorities was authorized and an Ohio Arts Council approved.

The horse racing season was increased from 44 to 50 days a year and a fund established to improve thoroughbred breeding.

The Ohio Education Association and other school groups initiated a bill to increase the 3 per cent retail sales tax to 4 per cent to raise another $116 million a year for public schools but the measure died in the House Education Committee.

The school lobby then acted to put the plan up to voters for determination in the November election.

Community Growth, Reports On Area Chamber's Agenda

Various committee reports and a broad discussion on approaches to use in promoting community growth and improvement were key agenda items during yesterday's meeting of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Comments on the Chamber's role in helping the community keep pace with progress were introduced by director Alden Bray. The discussion that followed touched on methods to utilize in organizing a program, informing the public and a review of what already has been done in the formation of a workable master plan for the city and county.

Chamber prexy Jack Clifton, agreeing that the organization should have a role in such a program, indicated that a future meeting will be called for a more detailed look.

Also in the way of future activity, the board mapped initial plans to add interest to Circleville's "Fall Harvest of Values" sale scheduled Sept. 23, 24 and 25. A proposal to purchase a steer at the Pickaway County Fair, then barbecue it for the special sales event, drew favorable comments. Additional planning will be worked out with the Chamber's Retail Merchants Committee.

ning will be worked out with the Chamber's Retail Merchants Committee.

CHARLES BOGGS chairman of last month's "Sidewalk Sale," reported a successful event. He commended local merchants and others for their participation and support of the annual downtown promotion.

D. E. Goodchild, heading up the Chamber's Airport Committee, announced that his panel plans to meet with the Board of County Commissioners next week concerning the possibilities of establishing an aviation facility here. His group has been conducting an intensive project study the past few months.

Dr. David Goldschmidt, chairman of the local Committee for Employment of Restored Veterans (CERV), reported on progress that has been made here. He asked the Chamber's support in setting up a board to interview eligible vets.

The request will be forwarded to the Chamber's Education Committee for an analysis and future report. The program, conducted in cooperation with the Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe, is a pilot project to help patients acquire gainful employment.

Earl Palm, Chamber vice president and chairman of the Agri-Business Committee, informed the directors that his group currently is studying means of combating the spread of Johnsongrass and quackgrass along public right-of-ways. He said his panel hopes to meet with the County Commission in an effort to solve the problem along local highways.

Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Chamber secretary, reported that the new Owens-Illinois plant and the Cole Nursery have become new members of the organization.

Eastern Cincinnati Suffers Power Outage

CINCINNATI (AP) — Workmen remained on their jobs early today in eastern Cincinnati where a power outage Tuesday night darkened thousands of homes and forced the Coney Island Amusement Park to shut down.

A spokesman for the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. said the outage apparently caused by damage to underground cables. Power was restored to most of the area shortly after 11 p.m.

Moral Values Shift

War Years Develop New Interest in Legs

Editor's Note: Following is the third in a series of five articles exploring moral standards in the movie industry.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All of a sudden legs were in style. Bosoms were emphasized, too.

The war years brought a new appreciation of the feminine form. Girl-starved GIs far from home yearned for female companionship, and Hollywood provided it with a flood of pin-up photographs.

Betty Grable gazed saucily over her shoulder, affording a view of her pretty back and peerless legs.

Jane Russell, a haughty look on her lovely face, leaned against a haystack.

Lana Turner, the original sweater girl, was available in variety of poses.

Most provocative was Rita Hayworth, particularly when she posed half-crouched on a satin sheet wearing a clinging negligee.

Born Margarita Cansino in New York City, she danced in her father's troupe and made her film debut in "Dante's Inferno" 30 years ago. She was a bit player in B pictures at Columbia until Howard Hawks chose her for a role in the Cary Grant-Jean Arthur film "Only Angels Have Wings."

Rita was to star in five marriages and dozens of films, in which she was every GI's conception of sex appeal. Her most successful portrayal came a year after the war in "Gilda." Few red-blooded male moviegoers of that era can forget her sinuous rendition of "Put the Blame on Mame."

The stern hand of censorship still ruled Hollywood. In one scene, Rita's number obviously was meant to be a strip tease, but such was forbidden. She merely peeled down her long white gloves and detached her earrings and necklace. As she was about to lower a shoulder-strap of her black satin gown, Glenn Ford hauled her off the dance floor and slapped her.

The rules adopted in 1934 applied to film morals. Kisses were limited to approximately 10 seconds. An actor embracing a prone maiden had to keep one foot on the floor, like a billiards player.

As far as the Breen Office was concerned, navel was nonexistent. Even kooch dancers were required to glue in rhinestones.

The world had undergone violent change but movies had not. The war brought unforeseen boom, and there was no reason to alter Hollywood's operation. Theater managers had little more to do than throw open the doors and let the entertainment-hungry crowds pour in.

Hollywood's prosperity continued in the early postwar period. Then something began to sour.

Somewhat the fairy tales that had charmed Americans in the 1930s didn't ring true in a nation that had been through a hot war and was facing a cold one. People had more money, and they found other things to do with it than sit in a darkened theater watching old-hat movies.

And in 1948, citizens began huddling in darkened living rooms every Tuesday night to watch Milton Berle get splashed in the face with a seltzer bottle.

Tomorrow: The troubled fifties and Marilyn Monroe.

Ohio Motor Vehicle Registrations Zoom

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Motor vehicle registrations for the first five months of the registration year are running far ahead of the corresponding period last year, State Auditor Chester W. Goble reported Tuesday.

Total registrations for the March-July period were 4,883,144 with license revenues totaling $44,779,364. Goble said this was an increase of 276,398 in registered vehicles.

Various committee reports and a broad discussion on approaches to use in promoting community growth and improvement were key agenda items during yesterday's meeting of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Comments on the Chamber's role in helping the community keep pace with progress were introduced by director Alden Bray. The discussion that followed touched on methods to utilize in organizing a program, informing the public and a review of what already has been done in the formation of a workable master plan for the city and county.

Chamber prexy Jack Clifton, agreeing that the organization should have a role in such a program, indicated that a future meeting will be called for a more detailed look.

Also in the way of future activity, the board mapped initial plans to add interest to Circleville's "Fall Harvest of Values" sale scheduled Sept. 23, 24 and 25.

A proposal to purchase a steer at the Pickaway County Fair, then barbecue it for the special sales event, drew favorable comments. Additional planning will be worked out with the Chamber's Retail Merchants Committee.

ning will be worked out with the Chamber's Retail Merchants Committee.

CHARLES BOGGS chairman of last month's "Sidewalk Sale," reported a successful event. He commended local merchants and others for their participation and support of the annual downtown promotion.

D. E. Goodchild, heading up the Chamber's Airport Committee, announced that his panel plans to meet with the Board of County Commissioners next week concerning the possibilities of establishing an aviation facility here. His group has been conducting an intensive project study the past few months.

Dr. David Goldschmidt, chairman of the local Committee for Employment of Restored Veterans (CERV), reported on progress that has been made here. He asked the Chamber's support in setting up a board to interview eligible vets.

The request will be forwarded to the Chamber's Education Committee for an analysis and future report. The program, conducted in cooperation with the Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe, is a pilot project to help patients acquire gainful employment.

Earl Palm, Chamber vice president and chairman of the Agri-Business Committee, informed the directors that his group currently is studying means of combating the spread of Johnsongrass and quackgrass along public right-of-ways. He said his panel hopes to meet with the County Commission in an effort to solve the problem along local highways.

Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Chamber secretary, reported that the new Owens-Illinois plant and the Cole Nursery have become new members of the organization.

Eastern Cincinnati Suffers Power Outage

CINCINNATI (AP) — Workmen remained on their jobs early today in eastern Cincinnati where a power outage Tuesday night darkened thousands of homes and forced the Coney Island Amusement Park to shut down.

A spokesman for the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. said the outage apparently caused by damage to underground cables. Power was restored to most of the area shortly after 11 p.m.

Moral Values Shift

War Years Develop New Interest in Legs

Editor's Note: Following is the third in a series of five articles exploring moral standards in the movie industry.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All of a sudden legs were in style. Bosoms were emphasized, too.

The war years brought a new appreciation of the feminine form. Girl-starved GIs far from home yearned for female companionship, and Hollywood provided it with a flood of pin-up photographs.

Betty Grable gazed saucily over her shoulder, affording a view of her pretty back and peerless legs.

Jane Russell, a haughty look on her lovely face, leaned against a haystack.

Lana Turner, the original sweater girl, was available in variety of poses.

Most provocative was Rita Hayworth, particularly when she posed half-crouched on a satin sheet wearing a clinging negligee.

Born Margarita Cansino in New York City, she danced in her father's troupe and made her film debut in "Dante's Inferno" 30 years ago. She was a bit player in B pictures at Columbia until Howard Hawks chose her for a role in the Cary Grant-Jean Arthur film "Only Angels Have Wings."

Rita was to star in five marriages and dozens of films, in which she was every GI's conception of sex appeal. Her most successful portrayal came a year after the war in "Gilda." Few red-blooded male moviegoers of that era can forget her sinuous rendition of "Put the Blame on Mame."

The stern hand of censorship still ruled Hollywood. In one scene, Rita's number obviously was meant to be a strip tease, but such was forbidden. She merely peeled down her long white gloves and detached her earrings and necklace. As she was about to lower a shoulder-

strap of her black satin gown, Glenn Ford hauled her off the dance floor and slapped her.

The rules adopted in 1934 applied to film morals. Kisses were limited to approximately 10 seconds. An actor embracing a prone maiden had to keep one foot on the floor, like a billiards player.

As far as the Breen Office was concerned, navelgazers were nonexistent. Even kooch dancers were required to glue in rhinestones.

The world had undergone violent change but movies had not. The war brought unforeseen boom, and there was no reason to alter Hollywood's operation. Theater managers had little more to do than throw open the doors and let the entertainment-hungry crowds pour in.

Hollywood's prosperity continued in the early postwar period. Then something began to sour.

Somewhat the fairy tales that had charmed Americans in the 1930s didn't ring true in a nation that had been through a hot war and was facing a cold one. People had more money, and they found other things to do with it than sit in a darkened theater watching old-hat movies.

And in 1948, citizens began huddling in darkened living rooms every Tuesday night to watch Milton Berle get splashed in the face with a seltzer bottle.

Tomorrow: The troubled fifties and Marilyn Monroe.

Ohio Motor Vehicle Registrations Zoom

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Motor vehicle registrations for the first five months of the registration year are running far ahead of the corresponding period last year, State Auditor Chester W. Goble reported Tuesday.

Total registrations for the March-July period were 4,883, 144 with license revenues totaling $84,779,364. Goble said this was an increase of 276,398 in registered vehicles.

June Allyson Granted Allowance from Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress June Allyson has been granted a $3,000 monthly allowance for one year from the estate of her late husband, actor-producer Dick Powell.

The allowance was granted Monday after Miss Allyson, 39, petitioned Superior Court that she is "without adequate estate" of her own.

The allowance will be for support of her and the couple's two children, Pamela, 17, and Richard, 14.

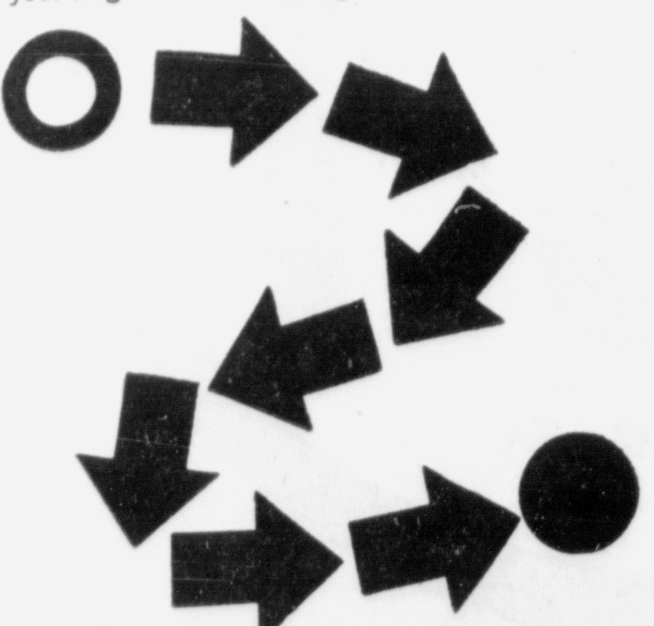

Powell, 58, died of cancer 2½ years ago. His estate, which still is being settled, was valued at $2.8 million.

Best-of-Show Honor Goes To Mrs. Eugene Crawford

ABSTRACT WINNER — In keeping with the trends the judge bestowed "Best-of-Show" honors on this abstract arrangement created by Mrs. Eugene Crawford, Kingston gardener. Only one flower was used. It was agapanthus or blue lily of the Nile, a tender bulb seldom found blooming in local gardens. The container was contrived from a cylinder like vase to which was attached one of the springs from a tractor seat. This arrangement was entered in the class "By Jet to the World's Fair." Mrs. Crawford is pictured here with her prize winning entry.

Mrs. Eugene Crawford, Kingston, won Best-of-Show, at the Pickaway County Fair Flower Exhibit, held for the first time in a room under the Grandstand.

Mrs. Crawford's winning abstract contained one flower. It was agapanthus or blue lily of the Nile. Painted vine formed the main line of the arrangement.

The container was a cylinder to which was attached a spring from a tractor seat—this was painted black.

The judge remarked that Mrs. Crawford had carried out the theme of the class with considerable originality. The class in which Mrs. Crawford entered this winning arrangement was "By Jet to the World's Fair."

Adding to the setting of the flower show were the three gardens entered by Monrovia Garden Club, Circleville Garden Club and Roundtown Garden Club.

THE ROUNDTOWN Club garden included an old well, a striking planting of geraniums and a stone path.

Circleville Garden Club's entry was an herb garden in miniature. Different herbs had been planted within the segment of a wagon wheel. In an old iron kettle five widely differing types of geraniums were growing.

Monrovia chose a religious motif. A statue of St. Francis was the center of interest. Several quality plants including a blooming rose were used in this garden.

Winners in the specimen division of the flower show were: Zinnias, large flowered, three blooms — 1st. Mrs. W. C. Shasteen; 2nd. Mrs. Corilla Pontius and 3rd. Mrs. Rod Shasteen.

Smuggling Modernized

Italy Battles Tricky Gangs

LUGANO, Switzerland (AP) — The golden age of smuggling supposedly belongs to the history books, but in this little corner of Switzerland daring contraband gangs are up to tricks which make the rum-smuggling pirates of old look like bungling amateurs.

Cigarettes are the most lucrative commodity. To get them from Switzerland into Italy smugglers use helicopters, submarines, frogmen, catapults, dogs, tunnels and even a home-made ski lift.

Italy has a state tobacco monopoly. Many Italians have picturesque but not every complimentary Latin expressions to describe the local cigarette brands.

They prefer imported foreign makes, particularly American. In Italy these cost 70 cents a pack. In Switzerland the same pack costs 27 cents. Thus smuggling can be profitable.

Italian guards find it impossible to patrol the whole border efficiently. The Swiss take little interest in the traffic — they even grant export licenses.

Swiss officials admit that the smuggling provides a healthy export boost for a country which runs a billion-dollar trade deficit annually.

The latest available figures show that Swiss exports of tobacco to Italy were worth $22 million in 1963.

In the winter, smuggling patrols ski over the mountains. At this time of the year they climb above the top. Trained dogs with cigarettes strapped round their midriffs also have been used.

A. Dr. Wm. W. Mayo opened his office in Rochester 100 years ago. However, the development of what is now the Mayo Clinic did not begin until Dr. Mayo's two sons, known until their death in 1939 as Dr. Will and Dr. Charlie, joined their father in practice. Today, the Mayo Clinic draws an average of 1,000 patients a day, many of whom travel long distances in the hope of obtaining relief.

"THE PILL" AND ARTHRITIS
Q. I have read that pills used for contraception are effective in arthritis. Would it be safe for a 43-year-old woman to take such pills? I have had arthritis for several years.
A. Safe, perhaps, but not necessarily justified. The claim that an oral contraceptive produced excellent results in arthritis was apparently made on the basis of six cases. Doctors at the New York University School of Medicine made a careful study of a number of arthritic patients treated in this manner and concluded that "the pill" was of little value.

Logan Elm Board To Seek Four-Mill Operating Levy

Logan Elm School District voters will be asked to decide on a four-mill operating levy when they go to the polls in November.

The decision to place the levy on the ballot was reached this week during a regular session of the board.

John Henn, executive head of the district, said the levy is needed to meet increased expenses and prices for school materials and services.

The levy, if passed, is to run for five years. A Citizen's Committee is to be organized to help give a complete financial picture to the voters, according to Henn.

ANOTHER major order of business completed by the board was the assignment of the teaching staff for the 1965-66 year.

Contracts were awarded to the Johnson Service Co. to service electrical controls at the high school; Ed Irwin Insurance Agency to continue the school bus insurance; Town Tire Sales to supply tires for the bus fleet; Litter's Fuel and Heating to provide coal for the district schools.

Lawrence McKenzie was appointed by the board as delegate to the Ohio School Boards Assn. annual convention.

A resolution was adopted commending the Booster Club for initiating, organizing and ordering new uniforms for the Logan Elm Band. Best-of-Show Honor Goes To Mrs. Eugene Crawford

ABSTRACT WINNER — In keeping with the trends the judge bestowed "Best-of-Show" honors on this abstract arrangement created by Mrs. Eugene Crawford, Kingston gardener. Only one flower was used. It was agapantha or blue lily of the Nile, a tender bulb seldom found blooming in local gardens. The container was contrived from a cylinder like vase to which was attached one of the springs from a tractor seat. This arrangement was entered in the class "By Jet to the World's Fair."

Mrs. Eugene Crawford, Kingston, won Best of Show, at the Pickaway County Fair Flower Exhibit, held for the first time in a room under the Grandstand.

Mrs. Crawford's winning abstract contained one flower. It was agapantha or blue lily of the Nile. Painted vine formed the main line of the arrangement.

The container was a cylinder to which was attached a spring from a tractor seat—this was painted black.

The judge remarked that Mrs. Crawford had carried out the theme of the class with considerable originality. The class in which Mrs. Crawford entered this winning arrangement was "By Jet to the World's Fair."

Adding to the setting of the flower show were the three gardens entered by Monrovia Garden Club, Circleville Garden Club and Roundtown Garden Club.

THE ROUNDTOWN Club garden included an old well, a striking planting of geraniums and a stone path.

Circleville Garden Club's entry was an herb garden in miniature. Different herbs had been planted within the segment of a wagon wheel. In an old iron kettle five widely differing types of geraniums were growing.

Monrovia chose a religious motif. A statue of St. Francis was the center of interest. Several quality plants including a blooming rose were used in this garden.

Winners in the specimen division of the flower show were: Zinnias, large flowered, three blooms — 1st. Mrs. W. C. Shasteen; 2nd. Mrs. Corilla Pontius and 3rd. Mrs. Rod Shasteen.

Zinnias, fantasy, three blooms—1st. Mrs. Warren Grover; 2nd. Mrs. Roger Hedges and 3d. Mrs. R. E. Bower.

Snapdragons, any variety or color, three stems — 1st. Mrs. Corilla Pontius; 2nd. W. C. Shasteen and 3d. Mrs. James Shea.

Smuggling Modernized

Italy Battles Tricky Gangs

LUGANO, Switzerland (AP) — The golden age of smuggling supposedly belongs to the history books, but in this little corner of Switzerland daring contraband gangs are up to tricks which make the rum-smuggling pirates of old look like bungling amateurs.

Cigarettes are the most lucrative commodity. To get them from Switzerland into Italy smugglers use helicopters, submarines, frogmen, catapults, dogs, tunnels and even a homemade ski lift.

Italy has a state tobacco monopoly. Many Italians have picturesque but not every complimentary Latin expressions to describe the local cigarette brands.

They prefer imported foreign makes, particularly American. In Italy these cost 70 cents a pack. In Switzerland the same pack costs 27 cents. Thus smuggling can be profitable.

Italian guards find it impossible to patrol the whole border efficiently. The Swiss take little interest in the traffic — they even grant export licenses.

Swiss officials admit that the smuggling provides a healthy export boost for a country which runs a billion-dollar trade deficit annually.

The latest available figures show that Swiss exports of tobacco to Italy were worth $22 million in 1963.

In the winter, smuggling patrols ski over the mountains. At this time of the year they climb over the top. Trained dogs with cigarettes strapped round their midriffs also have been used.

MAYO CLINIC

O. For how long has the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., been in operation?

A. Dr. Wm. W. Mayo opened his office in Rochester 100 years ago. However, the development of what is now the Mayo Clinic did not begin until Dr. Mayo's two sons, known until their death in 1939 as Dr. Will and Dr. Charlie, joined their father in practice. Today, the Mayo Clinic draws an average of 1,000 patients a day, many of whom travel long distances in the hope of obtaining relief.

"THE PILL" AND ARTHRITIS

O. I have read that pills used for contraception are effective in arthritis. Would it be safe for a 43-year-old woman to take such pills? I have had arthritis for several years.

A. Safe, perhaps, but not necessarily justified. The claim that an oral contraceptive produced excellent results in arthritis was apparently made on the basis of six cases. Doctors at the New York University School of Medicine made a careful study of a number of arthritic patients treated in this manner and concluded that "the pill" was of little value.

Logan Elm Board To Seek Four-Mill Operating Levy

Logan Elm School District voters will be asked to decide on a four-mill operating levy when they go to the polls in November.

The decision to place the levy on the ballot was reached this week during a regular session of the board.

John Henn, executive head of the district, said the levy is needed to meet increased expenses and prices for school materials and services.

The levy, if passed, is to run for five years. A Citizen's Committee is to be organized to help give a complete financial picture to the voters, according to Henn.

ANOTHER major order of business completed by the board was the assignment of the teaching staff for the 1965-66 year.

Contracts were awarded to the Johnson Service Co. to service electrical controls at the high school; Ed Irwin Insurance Agency to continue the school bus insurance; Town Tire Sales to supply tires for the bus fleet; Litter's Fuel and Heating to provide coal for the district schools. Lawrence McKenzie was appointed by the board as delegate to the Ohio School Boards Assn. annual convention.

A resolution was adopted commending the Booster Club for initiating, organizing and ordering new uniforms for the Logan Elm Band. A vote of thanks in recognition of the efforts of all interested patrons who freely donated their time and money towards the success of this project was unanimously passed.

Here are the teaching assignments for the coming year:

Highway Engineers Are Working On Plans for 20 Years Ahead

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of three articles dealing with Ohio's highway problems.

By JOHN F. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

Twenty years from now, or perhaps much sooner, you'll be zipping along the freeway at 80 miles per hour.

That's the way the modern highway is being designed, says Robert B. Burket, state design development engineer who started out 43 years ago patching highways in a road gang.

"All highway design is for 20 years from now," he says. "Then we add the increase factor," referring to the nation's zooming motor vehicle rate.

How do you plan 20 years ahead to build a proper highway?

Obviously, in some cases engineers can't or didn't, say Ohio highway officials as they point to secondary roads which still curve around trees, barns and somebody's farm land.

But, says Victor E. Stump, administrative assistant to R. E. Shultz, head of design and construction in the Ohio Highway Department, "Highway design is changing. Freeway thinking of 10 years seems antiquated now."

"We're getting bolder."

Burket cites another example, a theory which he thinks is no longer useful: Freeways should have curves to keep drivers from being lulled to sleep on straight stretches.

"I don't think the curvature that you introduce into the road will affect monotony. Is it better to sleep on a curve than a straight road?"

Burket says he thinks "you just get numb" on almost any superhighway. That, he adds, is the reason designers put rest stops for every half-hour of driving time. In Ohio, he says, 10 to 17 per cent of the total traffic on interstate routes uses the rest stops.

The pattern for designing and building a highway is almost standard.

Every four years the state surveys every road in the state. This is done by the Bureau of Planning and Programming.

Traffic is counted by passenger cars, panel and pickup trucks, tractor-trailer trucks and single trucks. The count is converted to units or passenger car equivalents. For example: a big truck counts as two passenger cars on level country. In hilly country, a truck may be the equivalent of four to eight passenger cars.

Roads with 4,000-6,000 cars a day are considered adequate if they have two lanes. Above

6,000 calls for a divided highway.

The Ohio Highway Department has 12 divisions. From the 12 divisions, which note the traffic survey, come recommendations for construction. In the case of interstate routes, of course, the federal government starts things off.

Following the recommendation is a preliminary report, showing the general line of the highway. There are engineering studies, soil reports, rights-of-way reports. In general, a proposal on the types of highway to be considered and where it would go. Programmers then figure the financing and cost.

Somewhere along this stage comes a public hearing.

"A public hearing could move a highway 500 feet more or less either way," says Burket.

If the public hearing approves the idea, the designers go to work.

The design speed of a highway says Burket, depends on curves, grades, visibility, road width, type and width of shoulders and structures, such as bridges.

The state builds two kinds of highways, concrete and asphalt.

Concrete is usually nine inches thick on a six-inch selected sub-base such as crushed rock. Most of the state's asphalt highways are two lanes. Asphalt is used because it is cheaper when it is considered adequate for the traffic it bears. In spots of heavy abuse it may run up to 27 inches thick.

The amount of right-of-way varies. Interstate 71 has 300 feet. Burket says the normal four-lane will have 250 feet. A 24-foot-wide two-lane highway may have 100 feet of right-of-way. The minimum is 80 feet.

Interchanges in modern highway design are a big feature now since limited access roads do not connect with every intersection as they did years ago. Burket says public hearing participants are often more interested in the location of interchange than they are in the general route of the highway.

"We can't design for perfect drainage," says Burket but designers give drainage careful consideration.

Ditches along interstate routes are designed with the thinking that only once in 10 years will be there a storm bad enough to fill them. Bridges are designed on a once in 50 years basis.

Burket says it takes two years from start of plans to design a rural highway. It takes two years more to build the highway. In urban areas the design and construction process can take years.

Design and right-of-way problems soar in cities.

Burket estimates interstate highway cost an average of $1 million a mile in rural areas. The cost in suburban areas has been estimated at $2.5 million per mile and as high as $10-$14 million a mile in cities.

Sometimes the cost affects safety factors.

A "weaving line", where incoming and exiting traffic use the same lane to get on a freeway is recognized "as a potential danger spot," says a U.S. engineer who must approve many Ohio highway plans.

He says the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads sometimes approves such a design when separate structures or other arrangements would be preferred, but much more expensive.

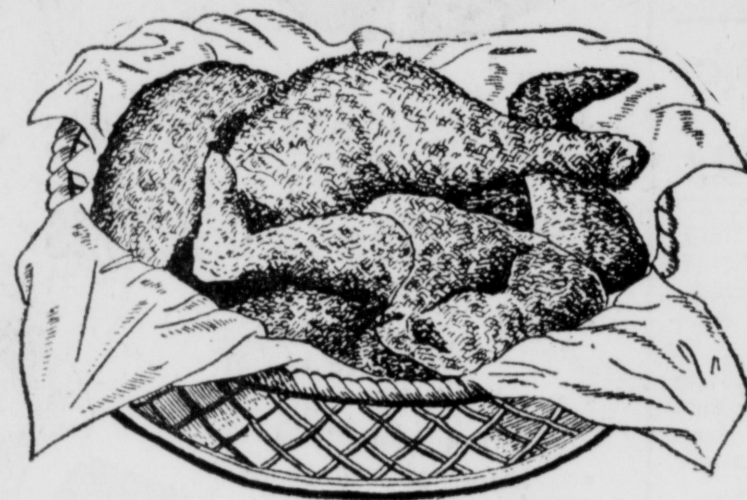

The answer, he says, is simple.

"We just don't have that kind of money."

"We're getting bolder."

Burket cites another example, a theory which he thinks is no longer useful: Freeways should have curves to keep drivers from being lulled to sleep on straight stretches.

"I don't think the curvature that you introduce into the road will affect monotony. Is it better to sleep on a curve than a straight road?"

Burket says he thinks "you just get numb" on almost any superhighway. That, he adds, is the reason designers put rest stops for every half-hour of driving time. In Ohio, he says, 10 to 17 per cent of the total traffic on interstate routes uses the rest stops.

The pattern for designing and building a highway is almost standard.

Every four years the state surveys every road in the state. This is done by the Bureau of Planning Survey in the Division of Planning and Programming.

Traffic is counted by passenger cars, panel and pickup trucks, tractor-trailer trucks and single trucks. The count is converted to units or passenger car equivalents. For example: a big truck counts as two passenger cars on level country. In hilly country, a truck may be the equivalent of four to eight passenger cars.

Roads with 4,000-6,000 cars a day are considered adequate if they have two lanes. Above

'Wets' Try Comeback In Butler County Area

MONROE, Ohio (AP) — The "wets" are making a comeback in this Butler County village of 1,500 that voted itself "dry" last November.

A group of residents Tuesday filed petitions with 154 signatures to place the local option issue on the ballot this fall.

J. Earl Gray, deputy clerk of the elections board, said the village boundaries have been changed since last year. The "drys" won that election by a narrow margin and were not certified as victors until after a recount.

had resulted in a turn toward better relations.

Five years ago — The U. S. X-15 rocket ship broke the world speed record and set a new altitude record on flights from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

One year ago — U.S. planes bombed North Viet Nam targets after renewed attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

6,000 calls for a divided highway.

The Ohio Highway Department has 12 divisions. From the 12 divisions, which note the traffic survey, come recommendations for construction. In the case of interstate routes, of course, the federal government starts things off.

Following the recommendation is a preliminary report, showing the general line of the highway. There are engineering studies, soil reports, rights-of-way reports. In general, a proposal on the types of highway to be considered and where it would go. Programmers then figure the financing and cost.

Somewhere along this stage comes a public hearing.

"A public hearing could move a highway 500 feet more or less either way," says Burket.

If the public hearing approves the idea, the designers go to work.

The design speed of a highway says Burket, depends on curves, grades, visibility, road width, type and width of shoulders and structures, such as bridges.

The state builds two kinds of highways, concrete and asphalt.

Concrete is usually nine inches thick on a six-inch selected sub-base such as crushed rock. Most of the state's asphalt highways are two lanes. Asphalt is used because it is cheaper when it is considered adequate for the traffic it bears. In spots of heavy abuse it may run up to 27 inches thick.

The amount of right-of-way varies. Interstate 71 has 300 feet. Burket says the normal four-lane will have 250 feet. A 24-foot-wide two-lane highway may have 100 feet of right-of-way. The minimum is 80 feet.

Interchanges in modern highway design are a big feature now since limited access roads do not connect with every intersection as they did years ago.

Burket says public hearing participants are often more interested in the location of interchange than they are in the general route of the highway.

"We can't design for perfect drainage," says Burket but designers give drainage careful consideration.

Ditches along interstate routes are designed with the thinking that only once in 10 years will be there a storm bad enough to fill them. Bridges are designed on a once in 50 years basis.

Burket says it takes two years from start of plans to design a rural highway. It takes two years more to build the highway. In urban areas the design and construction process can take years.

Design and right-of-way problems soar in cities.

Burket estimates interstate highway cost an average of $1 million a mile in rural areas. The cost in suburban areas has been estimated at $2.5 million per mile and as high as $10-$14 million a mile in cities.

Sometimes the cost affects safety factors.

A "weaving line", where incoming and exiting traffic use the same lane to get on a freeway is recognized "as a potential danger spot," says a U.S. engineer who must approve many Ohio highway plans.

He says the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads sometimes approves such a design when separate structures or other arrangements would be preferred, but much more expensive.

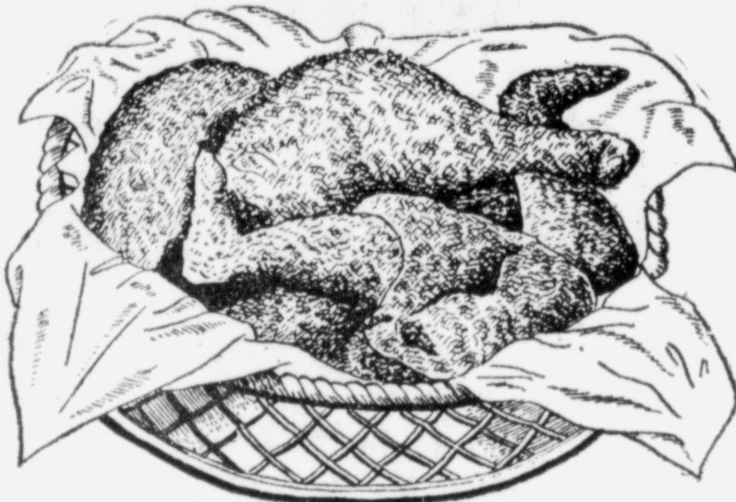

The answer, he says, is simple.

"We just don't have that kind of money."

Cubs Pitcher Spooks NL With Hypnosis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago Cub pitcher Bill Faul apparently has the whole National League spooked.

Faul is the Detroit Tiger discard who has evil-eyed his way into the Cubs' starting rotation with a string of shutout pitching that would frighten any hitter.

The young right-hander, who claims his secret is hypnosis, blanked the Philadelphia Phillies on just two hits Tuesday night and drove in a run with a single in the Cubs' 2-0 victory.

"I hypnotize myself before the game, and I'm then able to hypnotize the hitters," Faul said later. "I was really concentrating in my subconscious state on the mound."

It certainly looked like Faul had the Phillies under some kind of spell. After Wes Covington's double in the second and Tony Gonzales' single in the third, Faul did not permit another baserunner, retiring the last 19 batters he faced.

Faul says he goes into a quiet corner about 10 minutes before gametime, counts to 10 and "just blanks out everything."

Strange things seem to happen while Faul's on the mound. For instance, he was the pitcher on both occasions when the Cubs pulled off triple plays within 11 days last month.

Tuesday night's shutout gave Faul a string of 26 innings in which he has allowed just one run—to the New York Mets.

Tuesday night Pittsburgh's Vern Law turned in his third shutout of the season against the Mets as the Pirates romped to a 7-0 victory.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco topped Cincinnati 6-3 in 11 innings and Houston split a doubleheader with St. Louis, winning the first game 10-7 but losing the second 7-0. Los Angeles' game at Milwaukee was rained out.

In the American League, Chicago edged New York 3-2, Boston whacked Kansas City 10-5, Detroit ripped Cleveland 12-7, Baltimore topped Los Angeles 5-2 and Washington split two Minnesota games, losing the first 4-3 but winning the second 4-2.

Law allowed just three singles and got all the hitting support he needed from Roberto Clemente, Willie Stargell and Gene Alley. Clemente drove in two runs with a triple and a single, Stargell had three hits including two doubles and Alley hit the game's only homer.

Leo Cardenas' throwing error allowed two runs to score in the 11th as the Giants broke a 2-2 tie with a four-run burst. Willie McCovey homered for San Francisco and Pete Rose had a two-run shot for the Reds.

Cincinnati scored a run and had the bases loaded in the bottom of the 11th but Masanori Murakami fanned Vada Pinson, and Bob Bolin struck out Frank Robinson, ending the threat.

Ray Washburn pitched a six-hitter and Ken Boyer drove in four runs with a single, double and homer as St. Louis gained the split against Houston. Jim Wynn and Bob Aspromonte drove in three runs apiece as the Astros won the first game.

NL Czar Calls For Written Gripe

CINCINNATI (AP) — National League managers who have gripes about their opponents' using the illegal spitball ought to put their complaints into writing, league President Warren C. Giles announced.

"If a manager has a complaint about an illegal pitch he should make it to me and the league in writing," Giles said Tuesday.

He added that even though he has seen public statements about the spitball, no such complaints have arrived at his office.

The latest accusation came from Milwaukee where Braves Manager Bobby Bragan charged that the San Francisco Giants pitchers were using the illegal pitch.

Kochheiser Cops Pony Win, 3-2

Kochheiser downed VFW, 3-2, last night in the Pony League tournament.

Mike Rhoads led the seven-hit attack by the Hardwaremen as he cracked a double. Steve McGinnis added two singles for the winners.

Mike Yates belted a three bagger and a single for the Vets. Teammate Jack White hammered a double and single.

Tribe Blows Fat Lead as Tigers Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Can Sonny and Sammy end the whammy — the whammy that's caused the Cleveland Indians to blow four-run leads in three of their last four games?

Unless Sonny Siebert (11-6) wins tonight against Detroit's Joe Sparna (7-4), the Tigers will move into a tie with Cleveland for third. Sam McDowell is the probable to hurl the series finale Thursday night against Hank Aguirre.

In a contest that saw 29 base hits rattling around the stadium, the Tigers put together a nine-run fifth inning Tuesday night and whipped the Indians 12-7.

The loss enabled all four of the other American League pennant contenders to gain on the Tribe, which is now only two games ahead of the fifth-place Chicago White Sox, who come here Friday for four games.

Siebert's sore back needed another day of rest, so Manager Birdie Tebbetts started Steve Hargar Tuesday night. The 21-year-old Hargar, a right-hander, had just arrived from Portland, where he had been outstanding in the Pacific Coast League.

To make room for Hargar the Tribe assigned Jack Spring, 32-year-old southpaw reliever to Portland.

Hargar looked good as he struck out the side in the second inning and goosed-egged the Tigers through the first three frames on one hit. But in the fourth he had a couple of wild pitches, yielded singles to Al Kaline and Willie Horton and gave up a walk. This added up to two runs, but the Indians scored pairs of runs in the first, third and fourth and went into the disastrous fifth inning leading 6-2.

19 Rotarians In District Golf Tourney

There were 19 Circleville Rotarians represented in the District Rotary golf tournament yesterday at a Zanesville.

Don Hill earned a prize for carding the highest gross score in the event. Karl J. Herrmann and Gene Lindsey won door prizes.

There were approximately 180 golfers participating in the annual tournament.

Making the trip from here were:

U.S. Davis Cup Team Selected

NEW YORK (AP) — Dennis Ralston, Frank Froehling, Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner will represent the United States in the Davis Cup inter-zone finals against Spain later this month in Barcelona.

Announcement of the selections was made Tuesday night by non-playing Capt. George R. MacCall and Davis Cup Committee Chairman W. H. Woods shortly before the squad departed for Spain.

MacCall, Woods and the players were to arrive in Barcelona today for the Aug. 17-19 showdown.

Top Trotter Hoot Mon Dies at Age of 21

HANOVER, Pa. (AP) — Hoot Mon, noted sire of trotters and pacers and a top competitor in his harness racing years, died Monday night at the Hanover Shoe Farms. He was 21 years old.

Hoot Mon won the 1947 Hambletonian and other 3-year-old stakes.

Ankrom Team Dumps Cooks From Tourney

Lumbermen, Hills To Meet in Mosquito Finals on Thursday

Ankrom Lumber dumped Cook Insurance 6-3 last night to move into the finals of the Mosquito League tournament.

The Lumbermen will vie with Hill Implement for the league title Thursday at 7:30 p. m. under the lights at Ted Lewis Park.

Ankroms traveled to the finals by beating Circleville Lumber and Cooks. The Implementmen stopped Prairie Lanes and K of C to gain their berth in the finale.

Mike Speakman and Jeff Hawks split the mound chores for the winners. James Brown and Rex Riddle hurled for the losers.

Riddle hit a homer for Cooks and Brown tagged a triple.

Nist Chalks Up Publinx Lead

Ex-Champ Fires Five-under-Par

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — It seems everyone in Northeastern Ohio wants to claim Don Nist as his own.

What Nist wants to claim is a second Ohio Public Links Golf Championship.

And the 36-year-old sales engineer got off in the right direction Tuesday, carving out a brilliant five-under-par 66 in the first round of the 32nd annual state tournament, a 72-hole medal play event.

Nist lives in Canal Fulton, but lists the Elms Country Club in Massillon as his home course and Akron as his mailing address. And the city of Canton claims the Stark County Amateur champion as one of its residents.

Nist, who won the Public Links back in 1957 when he was serving a term in the Ohio Legislature, went on a birdie barrage Tuesday over Tam O'Shanter's 6,350-yard, par 35-36-71 Dales course. Half the field is playing on the Dales course, and the other half on the Hills course, a par 35-35-70 layout that measures 6,178 yards.

Nist said: "I couldn't miss a putt." He counted seven birdies and only two bogies in his flashy round.

Veteran Andy Holmes of Toledo, who posted a 69, was the opening-round runner-up.

Nine were deadlocked for third place with 70s: Lulu Sabotin, the Warren fireman who won in 1963, and Jack Charlton, Mentor; Jim Smith, Massillon; Bob Farber Sr., North Canton; Dick Allison, Columbus; Gene Boni, Sandusky; Don Robison, Hubbard; Al Hager, Mansfield; and Rudy Patrick, Girard.

Two former winners were still in contention. Art Todd of Columbus, who won in 1959, registered a 72; and Joe Lazor of Cleveland, the defending champion, carded a 74.

Outstanding Race Program Is Viewed by Sparse Crowd

A sparse crowd of local harness racing fans yesterday were treated to one of the fastest and best race cards held in recent years at the Pickaway Fairgrounds oval.

The well filled program presented eight close heats of racing, with no less than eight horses going postward in any single heat.

The fastest time of the day came in the first heat of the second race, Rene Carpenter, owned by Bennett Junk of New Holland and driven by Harry Richardson, breezed around the half mile oval in 2:07 3-5.

Winner of the first heat was Tattler, a 2-year-old trained and driven by McKinley Kirk of Washington C. H.

Kirk followed Chrome Queen, driven by Jack Bellesing for most of the mile. He then made his move at the top of the final turn.

As he entered the stretch, Tattler was on top and outlasted the hard driving Chrome Queen to cop the win. Harry's Harry was third and Ace Ambrose fourth.

Cubs Pitcher Spooks NL With Hypnosis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Chicago Cub pitcher Bill Faul apparently has the whole National League spooked.

Faul is the Detroit Tiger discard who has evil-eyed his way into the Cubs' starting rotation with a string of shutout pitching that would frighten any hitter.

The young right-hander, who claims his secret is hypnosis, blanked the Philadelphia Phillies on just two hits Tuesday night and drove in a run with a single in the Cubs' 2-0 victory.

"I hypnotize myself before the game, and I'm then able to hypnotize the hitters," Faul said later. "I was really concentrating in my subconscious state on the mound."

It certainly looked like Faul had the Phillies under some kind of spell. After Wes Covington's double in the second and Tony Gonzales' single in the third, Faul did not permit another baserunner, retiring the last 19 batters he faced.

Faul says he goes into a quiet corner about 10 minutes before gametime, counts to 10 and "just blanks out everything."

Strange things seem to happen while Faul's on the mound. For instance, he was the pitcher on both occasions when the Cubs pulled off triple plays within 11 days last month.

Tuesday night's shutout gave Faul a string of 26 innings in which he has allowed just one run—to the New York Mets.

Tuesday night Pittsburgh's Vern Law turned in his third shutout of the season against the Mets as the Pirates romped to a 7-0 victory.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco topped Cincinnati 6-3 in 11 innings and Houston split a doubleheader with St. Louis, winning the first game 10-7 but losing the second 7-0. Los Angeles' game at Milwaukee was rained out.

In the American League, Chicago edged New York 3-2, Boston whacked Kansas City 10-5, Detroit ripped Cleveland 12-7, Baltimore topped Los Angeles 5-2 and Washington split two Minnesota, losing the first 4-3 but winning the second 4-2.

Law allowed just three singles and got all the hitting support he needed from Roberto Clemente, Willie Stargell and Gene Alley. Clemente drove in two runs with a triple and a single, Stargell had three hits including two doubles and Alley hit the game's only homer.

Leo Cardenas' throwing error allowed two runs to score in the 11th as the Giants broke a 2-2 tie with a four-run burst. Willie McCovey homered for San Francisco and Pete Rose had a two-run shot for the Reds.

Cincinnati scored a run and had the bases loaded in the bottom of the 11th but Masanori Murakami fanned Vada Pinson, and Bob Bolin struck out Frank Robinson, ending the threat.

Ray Washburn pitched a six-hitter and Ken Boyer drove in four runs with a single, double and homer as St. Louis gained the split against Houston. Jim Wynn and Bob Aspromonte drove in three runs apiece as the Astros won the first game.

NL Czar Calls For Written Gripe

CINCINNATI (AP) — National League managers who have gripes about their opponents' using the illegal spitball ought to put their complaints into writing, league President Warren C. Giles announced.

"If a manager has a complaint about an illegal pitch he should make it to me and the league in writing," Giles said Tuesday.

He added that even though he has seen public statements about the spitball, no such complaints have arrived at his office.

The latest accusation came from Milwaukee where Braves Manager Bobby Bragan charged that the San Francisco Giants pitchers were using the illegal pitch.

Kochheiser Cops Pony Win, 3-2

Kochheiser downed VFW, 3-2, last night in the Pony League tournament.

Mike Rhoads led the seven-hit attack by the Hardwaremen as he cracked a double. Steve McGinnis added two singles for the winners.

Mike Yates belted a three bagger and a single for the Vets. Teammate Jack White hammered a double and single.

Tribe Blows Fat Lead as Tigers Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Can Sonny and Sammy end the whammy — the whammy that's caused the Cleveland Indians to blow four-run leads in three of their last four games?

Unless Sonny Siebert (11-6) wins tonight against Detroit's Joe Sparna (7-4), the Tigers will move into a tie with Cleveland for third. Sam McDowell is the probable to hurl the series finale Thursday night against Hank Aguirre.

In a contest that saw 29 base hits rattling around the stadium, the Tigers put together a nine-run fifth inning Tuesday night and whipped the Indians 12-7.

The loss enabled all four of the other American League pennant contenders to gain on the Tribe, which is now only two games ahead of the fifth-place Chicago White Sox, who come here Friday for four games.

Siebert's sore back needed another day of rest, so Manager Birdie Tebbetts started Steve Hargar Tuesday night. The 21-year-old Hargan, a right-hander, had just arrived from Portland, where he had been outstanding in the Pacific Coast League.

To make room for Hargan the Tribe assigned Jack Spring, 32-year-old southpaw reliever to Portland.

Hargan looked good as he struck out the side in the second inning and goosed-egged the Tigers through the first three frames on one hit. But in the fourth he had a couple of wild pitches, yielded singles to Al Kaline and Willie Horton and gave up a walk. This added up to two runs, but the Indians scored pairs of runs in the first, third and fourth and went into the disastrous fifth inning leading 6-2.

There were approximately 180 golfers participating in the annual tournament.

U.S. Davis Cup Team Selected

NEW YORK (AP) — Dennis Ralston, Frank Froehling, Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner will represent the United States in the Davis Cup inter-zone finals against Spain later this month in Barcelona.

Announcement of the selections was made Tuesday night by non-playing Capt. George R. MacCall and Davis Cup Committee Chairman W. H. Woods shortly before the squad departed for Spain.

MacCall, Woods and the players were to arrive in Barcelona today for the Aug. 17-19 showdown.

The Lumbermen will vie with Hill Implement for the league title Thursday at 7:30 p. m. under the lights at Ted Lewis Park.

Ankroms traveled to the finals by beating Circleville Lumber and Cooks. The Implementmen stopped Prairie Lanes and K of C to gain their berth in the finale.

Mike Speakman and Jeff Hawks split the mound chores for the winners. James Brown and Rex Riddle hurled for the losers.

Riddle hit a homer for Cooks and Brown tagged a triple.

Nist Chalks Up Publinx Lead

Ex-Champ Fires Five-under-Par

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — It seems everyone in Northeastern Ohio wants to claim Don Nist as his own.

What Nist wants to claim is a second Ohio Public Links Golf Championship.

And the 36-year-old sales engineer got off in the right direction Tuesday, carving out a brilliant five-under-par 66 in the first round of the 32nd annual state tournament, a 72 - hole medal play event.

Nist lives in Canal Fulton, but lists the Elms Country Club in Massillon as his home course and Akron as his mailing address. And the city of Canton claims the Stark County Amateur champion as one of its residents.

Nist, who won the Public Links back in 1957 when he was serving a term in the Ohio Legislature, went on a birdie barrage Tuesday over Tam O'Shanter's 6,350-yard, par 35-36-71 Dales course. Half the field is playing on the Dales course, and the other half on the Hills course, a par 35-35-70 layout that measures 6,178 yards.

Nist said: "I couldn't miss a putt." He counted seven birdies and only two bogies in his flashy round.

Veteran Andy Holmes of Toledo, who posted a 69, was the opening-round runner-up. Nine were deadlocked for third place with 70s: Lulu Sabatin, the Warren fireman who won in 1963, and Jack Charlton, Mentor; Jim Smith, Massillon; Bob Farber Sr., North Canton; Dick Allison, Columbus; Gene Boni, Sandusky; Don Robison, Hubbard; Al Hager, Mansfield; and Rudy Patrick, Girard.

Two former winners were still in contention. Art Todd of Columbus, who won in 1959, registered a 72; and Joe Lazor of Cleveland, the defending champion, carded a 74.

Ernie Krombolz, a javelin thrower from Newton Square, Pa., and Bill Reilly, distance runner from Oceanport, N. J., will co-captain Penn State's track team next year.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan has been on President Johnson's back more than any top Republican in Congress. Johnson doesn't take persistent criticism lightly. And Ford apparently was Johnson's target last Sunday when the President cut loose on a Republican he didn't name but accused of leaking information on a White House conference with congressional leaders about Viet Nam.

For most of this year the 52-year-old Ford, Republican House leader since January, said little about Johnson, and most of it was mild. He began getting critical in June and stepped it up in July.

His swipes at the President were far more caustic than anything Johnson has said about Republicans this year. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republicans' Senate leader, has been one of Johnson's greatest helpers.

Ford really got rough last month when the House passed the administration-sponsored civil rights bill on voting after turning down proposals by Ford and another Republican, Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio.

Johnson, congratulating the Ford-McCulloch measure would have "seriously damaged and diluted the guarantee of the right to vote for all Americans."

The next day, July 12, Ford and McCulloch fired back in a joint statement that Johnson doesn't like anyone to differ with him, is a "dangerous advocate of one-party government," is a "Lyndon-come-lately" on civil rights, had "traveled a crooked path" in that field, and until 1957 had voted "against civil rights 100 per cent."

Johnson held a news conference the next day. Asked about the Republican comments on his civil rights position, he said he was "particularly sensitive to the problems of the Negro." He said he wanted to do his best in that field "in the limited time that I am allowed. I did not have that responsibility in the years past, and I did not feel it to the extent that I do today. I am going to try to provide all of the leadership that I can, notwithstanding the fact that someone may point to a mistake or 100 mistakes that I made in my past."

Later in July, Ford urged the President to tell the nation "straight from the shoulder" what this country faces in Viet Nam. He said Johnson revealed "grim news in installments."

And he accused the administration of using a "cynical type of log-rolling" to win House repeal of the federal law which lets states ban union shops. Then last Sunday Johnson exploded. This was the background:

On July 27 Johnson called congressional leaders of both parties to the White House to discuss the decisions he would soon announce on Viet Nam. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Senate Democratic leader, made some statements at this meeting which haven't been published yet.

On July 28 at a huge news conference, Johnson told the nation he was sending 50,000 more troops to Viet Nam, and was increasing the draft but was not going to call up the National Guard and the reserves.

Ford held what he called an informal background meeting with newsmen. He said this was after the White House meeting with congressional leaders. He didn't say what day but, reportedly, it was July 29.

Then there were reports on what was supposed to have happened at that White House conference, such as this: That Mansfield had talked Johnson out of calling up the National Guard and reserves.

When he met with newsmen at his ranch last Sunday, Johnson said a prominent Republican "broke my confidence" and "distorted" what happened. He said Mansfield never mentioned reserves and branded reports that he did "untrue and perhaps malicious." Then he threw this barb:

"Once in a while an inexperienced man or a new, or a bitter partisan, has to play a little politics. I think they keep it to a minimum, generally speaking, but one or two of them will do it — and boys will be boys."

Ford quickly said he didn't know whom Johnson was talking about and confirmed the President's statement that Mansfield had said nothing about reserves. Tuesday Ford again denied he had anything to do with the alleged leak.

"I broke no confidence," he said, and then needed Johnson all over again by saying he had a suspicion the President "is very, very sensitive" because some prominent Democrats have been critical of his Viet Nam policies.

Big Crowd Sees
Chiefs Nip Jets
A big crowd seems to bring out the best in the Syracuse Chiefs even if the crowd is composed of partisan Columbus Jets' fans.

Syracuse nipped the International League-leading Jets a 4-3 Tuesday night before a Pony night throng of 14,859, one of the largest in the history of the Columbus park.

Columbus loaded the bases with none out in the eighth but could score only twice against starter Billy Graham and two relief pitchers.

In other games, Atlanta belted Buffalo 7-3, Toledo squeezed past Rochester 4-3 in 12 innings, and Toronto split a doubleheader with Jacksonville, winning the first game 6-1 before losing the second 11-7.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan has been on President Johnson's back more than any top Republican in Congress. Johnson doesn't take personal criticism lightly. And Ford apparently was Johnson's target last Sunday when the President cut loose on a Republican he didn't name but accused of leaking information on a White House conference with congressional leaders about Viet Nam.

For most of this year the 52-year-old Ford, Republican House leader since January, said little about Johnson, and most of it was mild. He began getting critical in June and stepped it up in July.

His swipes at the President were far more caustic than anything Johnson has said about Republicans this year. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republicans' Senate leader, has been one of Johnson's greatest helpers.

Ford really got rough last month when the House passed the administration-sponsored civil rights bill on voting after turning down proposals by Ford and another Republican, Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio. Johnson, congratulating the Democratic-run House, said the Ford-McCulloch measure would have "seriously damaged and diluted the guarantee of the right to vote for all Americans."

The next day, July 12, Ford and McCulloch fired back in a joint statement that Johnson doesn't like anyone to differ with him, is a "dangerous advocate of one-party government," is a "Lyndon-come-lately" on civil rights, had "traveled a crooked path" in that field, and until 1957 had voted "against civil rights 100 per cent."

Johnson held a news conference the next day. Asked about the Republican comments on his civil rights position, he said he was "particularly sensitive to the problems of the Negro." He said he wanted to do his best in that field "in the limited time that I am allowed. I did not have that responsibility in the years past, and I did not feel it to the extent that I do today. I am going to try to provide all of the leadership that I can, notwithstanding the fact that someone may point to a mistake or 100 mistakes that I made in my past."

Later in July, Ford urged the President to tell the nation "straight from the shoulder" what this country faces in Viet Nam. He said Johnson revealed "grim news in installments."

And he accused the administration of using a "cynical type of log-rolling" to win House repeal of the federal law which lets states ban union shops. Then last Sunday Johnson exploded. This was the background:

On July 27 Johnson called congressional leaders of both parties to the White House to discuss the decisions he would soon announce on Viet Nam. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Senate Democratic leader, made some statements at this meeting which haven't been published yet.

On July 28 at a huge news conference, Johnson told the nation he was sending 50,000 more troops to Viet Nam, and was increasing the draft but was not going to call up the National Guard and the reserves.

Ford held what he called an informal background meeting with newsmen. He said this was after the White House meeting with congressional leaders. He didn't say what day but, reportedly, it was July 29.

Then there were reports on what was supposed to have happened at that White House conference, such as this: That Mansfield had talked Johnson out of calling up the National Guard and reserves.

When he met with newsmen at his ranch last Sunday, Johnson said a prominent Republican "broke my confidence" and "distorted" what happened. He said Mansfield never mentioned reserves and branded reports that he did "untrue and perhaps malicious." Then he threw this barb:

"Once in a while an inexperienced man or a new one, or a bitter partisan, has to play a little politics. I think they keep it to a minimum, generally speaking, but one or two of them will do it — and boys will be boys."

Ford quickly said he didn't know whom Johnson was talking about and confirmed the President's statement that Mansfield had said nothing about reserves. Tuesday Ford again denied he had anything to do with the alleged leak.

"I broke no confidence," he said, and then needed Johnson all over again by saying he had a suspicion the President "is very, very sensitive" because some prominent Democrats have been critical of his Viet Nam policies.

Big Crowd Sees Chiefs Nip Jets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A big crowd seems to bring out the best in the Syracuse Chiefs even if the crowd is composed of partisan Columbus Jets' fans.

Syracuse nipped the International League-leading Jets a 4-3 Tuesday night before a Pony night throng of 14,859, one of the largest in the history of the Columbus park.

Columbus loaded the bases with none out in the eighth but could score only twice against starter Billy Graham and two relief pitchers.

In other games, Atlanta belted Buffalo 7-3, Toledo squeezed past Rochester 4-3 in 12 innings, and Toronto split a doubleheader with Jacksonville, winning the first game 6-1 before losing the second 11-7.

Tempo Steps Up On Sewer Issue

Circleville Council last night enacted legislation authorizing the employment of special counsel to assist in the defense of certain litigation brought against the city concerning the controversial Sanitary Sewer District No. 2.

Hired to assist the city solicitor in the litigation was the law firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey of Cleveland. The sewer project has been tied up in court for about three years due to two property owner suits filed in Common Pleas Court here.

The case was assigned to Common Pleas Judge Darrell Hottle of Highland County. After a long delay, one which has cost the city a considerable amount of money in the way of interest on notes, the court apparently has decided to move ahead in finding a solution.

According to information available here, Judge Hottle has called a meeting of principals involved in the cases for Aug. 17, including a representative from City Council. It has been indicated an attempt will be made to reach a compromise on the controversial issue.

AS A follow up to the move to hire special counsel, the solons approved an ordinance adding additional time for cash payments of assessments levied for the sewer district project. The new measure amends one section of a previous ordinance passed for this purpose.

The amendment specifies that the total assessment against each parcel of land shall be payable in cash from Aug. 4, 1965, to Sept. 3, 1965, or at the option of the owner, in 10 annual installments. Assessments remaining unpaid at the end of the 30-day period shall be certified and placed on the tax duplicate.

In other legislative action, the solons adopted a tentative city budget for 1966. The measure was approved following a period set aside for a public hearing on the yearly financial estimate. No opposition was presented during the hearing.

Bombers Stage Another Raid In Mountains

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers today made their second raid in three days on the mountainous Do Xa area 350 miles northeast of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman announced.

The spokesman said "a number" of the Strategic Air Command jets from Guam made the strike on a suspected Viet Cong base in Quang Tin Province. It was the eighth B52 raid of the Viet Nam conflict to be announced.

The Viet Cong has long controlled the Do Xa, a mist-shrouded area of jungled mountains in the central highlands. Thirty B52s from Guam hit the area on Monday.

On the ground, troops of the 101st Airborne Division came under Viet Cong fire for the first time early today, only six days after about 3,700 of the paratroopers landed at Cam Ranh Bay 180 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said guerrillas harassed men of the division with small arms fire but American casualties were "very light."

The paratroopers set up defensive positions around the harbor to provide security for Army engineers constructing a base there.

The Viet Cong inflicted "moderate" to "heavy" casualties on government forces in three other scattered actions, a military spokesman said. He gave this report:

An estimated battalion of guerrillas ambushed a regional force on a road-clearing mission near Tay Ninh, 40 miles northwest of Saigon. A relief force dispatched to the scene did not make contact with the Viet Cong.

Another Viet Cong group hit the district town of Thoi Binh in An Xuyen Province 145 miles southwest of the capital. Six Viet Cong were killed and left behind as the defenders fought off the attack with the help of artillery.

Twelve civilians were killed and regional force losses were "heavy" in another communist attack against Tam Binh outpost, 100 miles southwest of the capital. Communications were lost with the outpost but later re-established after the Viet Cong broke contact. Ten Viet Cong were reported killed.

Communist mortar and small arms attacks on several posts around Saigon were reported during the night, but casualties were described as light.

Military authorities announced that the U.S. manpower buildup in Viet Nam had reached approximately 80,000 as of July 29. This included 39,000 Army, 25,300 Marines, 11,200 Air Force, 4,400 Navy and 100 Coast Guard.

Vietnamese government casualties during the week ending July 31 totaled 815 compared with 857 Viet Cong losses for the same period, a military spokesman announced.

In the same week, 15 Americans were killed and four others were missing, or captured, the official said. During the previous week, 12 Americans were reported killed and three missing or captured.

Of the government casualties, which rose from 725 the previous week, 235 were killed, 480 wounded and 100 missing or captured.

On the Viet Cong side, 760 were claimed killed and 97 others were taken prisoner. The figures on Viet Cong dead were usually the result of estimates from the air.

The spokesman said military activity increased slightly during the week but man force Viet Cong units continued to avoid contact.

★ ★ Yanks Bomb Nearer China

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jet fighter-bombers flew within 30 miles of Red China today on a bombing mission over North Viet Nam, a U.S. military spokesman said.

It was the closest announced strike ever to the Chinese mainland since the United States began bombing Communist targets in North Viet Nam last Feb. 7.

Four U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs hit a group of railroad cars about 105 miles northwest of Hanoi near the town of a Ho, the spokesman said. He reported all planes returned safely.

Pilots said they dropped nine tons of bombs on the targets, damaging 11 box cars.

Tempo Steps Up On Sewer Issue

Circleville Council last night enacted legislation authorizing the employment of special counsel to assist in the defense of certain litigation brought against the city concerning the controversial Sanitary Sewer District No. 2.

Hired to assist the city solicitor in the litigation was the law firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey of Cleveland. The sewer project has been tied up in court for about three years due to two property owner suits filed in Common Pleas Court here.

The case was assigned to Common Pleas Judge Darrell Hottle of Highland County. After a long delay, one which has cost the city a considerable amount of money in the way of interest on notes, the court apparently has decided to move ahead in finding a solution.

According to information available here, Judge Hottle has called a meeting of principals involved in the cases for Aug. 17, including a representative from City Council. It has been indicated an attempt will be made to reach a compromise on the controversial issue.

AS A follow up to the move to hire special counsel, the solons approved an ordinance allowing additional time for cash payments of assessments levied for the sewer district project. The new measure amends one section of a previous ordinance passed for this purpose.

The amendment specifies that the total assessment against each parcel of land shall be payable in cash from Aug. 4, 1965, to Sept. 3, 1965, or at the option of the owner, in 10 annual installments. Assessments remaining unpaid at the end of the 30-day period shall be certified and placed on the tax duplicate.

In other legislative action, the solons adopted a tentative city budget for 1966. The measure was approved following a period set aside for a public hearing on the yearly financial estimate. No opposition was presented during the hearing.

Bombers Stage Another Raid In Mountains

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers today made their second raid in three days on the mountainous Do Xa area 350 miles northeast of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman announced.

The spokesman said "a number" of the Strategic Air Command jets from Guam made the strike on a suspected Viet Cong base in Quang Tin Province. It was the eighth B52 raid of the Viet Nam conflict to be announced.

The Viet Cong has long controlled the Do Xa, a mist-shrouded area of jungled mountains in the central highlands. Thirty B52s from Guam hit the area on Monday.

On the ground, troops of the 101st Airborne Division came under Viet Cong fire for the first time early today, only six days after about 3,700 of the paratroopers landed at Cam Ranh Bay 180 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said guerrillas harassed men of the division with small arms fire but American casualties were "very light."

The paratroopers set up defensive positions around the harbor to provide security for Army engineers constructing a base there.

The Viet Cong inflicted "moderate" to "heavy" casualties on government forces in three other scattered actions, a military spokesman said. He gave this report:

An estimated battalion of guerrillas ambushed a regional force on a road-clearing mission near Tay Ninh, 40 miles north-west of Saigon. A relief force dispatched to the scene did not make contact with the Viet Cong.

Another Viet Cong group hit the district town of Thoi Binh in An Xuyen Province 145 miles southwest of the capital. Six Viet Cong were killed and left behind as the defenders fought off the attack with the help of artillery.

Twelve civilians were killed and regional force losses were "heavy" in another communist attack against Tam Binh outpost, 100 miles southwest of the capital. Communications were lost with the outpost but later re-established after the Viet Cong broke contact. Ten Viet Cong were reported killed.

Communist mortar and small arms attacks on several posts around Saigon were reported during the night, but casualties were described as light.

Military authorities announced that the U.S. manpower buildup in Viet Nam had reached approximately 80,000 as of July 29. This included 39,000 Army, 25,300 Marines, 11,200 Air Force, 4,400 Navy and 100 Coast Guard.

Vietnamese government casualties during the week ending July 31 totaled 815 compared with 857 Viet Cong losses for the same period, a military spokesman announced.

In the same week, 15 Americans were killed and four others were missing, or captured, the official said. During the previous week, 12 Americans were reported killed and three missing or captured.

Of the government casualties, which rose from 725 the previous week, 235 were killed, 480 wounded and 100 missing or captured.

On the Viet Cong side, 760 were claimed killed and 97 others were taken prisoner. The figures on Viet Cong dead were usually the result of estimates from the air.

The spokesman said military activity increased slightly during the week but man force Viet Cong units continued to avoid contact.

★ ★ Yanks Bomb Nearer China

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jet fighter-bombers flew within 30 miles of Red China today on a bombing mission over North Viet Nam, a U.S. military spokesman said.

It was the closest announced strike ever to the Chinese mainland since the United States began bombing Communist targets in North Viet Nam last Feb. 7.

Four U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs hit a group of railroad cars about 105 miles northwest of Hanoi near the town of a Ho. The spokesman said. He reported all planes returned safely.

Pilots said they dropped nine tons of bombs on the targets, damaging 11 box cars.
